Negroes Move Into Squatters Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds of poverty-stricken Negroes, facing a first night of rain and chill, moved into their squatters settlement by the Lincoln Memorial Tuesday as the Poor People's Campaign mapped the start of demonstrations next week.

A privately circulated staff memo tentatively set next Monday for the initial demonstration which it said may provoke "mass arrests and police brutality."

In Detroit, where marchers clashed with police the previous night, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said in the text of an address to a Negro audience progress will not be achieved on a tightrope with a "balance of terror."

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., visiting the poverty camp to pound a ceremonial nail in one shanty, said as long as the campaign stays nonviolent and reasonable, Congress and the nation "must be receptive, we must listen and we must learn."

President Johnson passed within sight of the long rows of unpainted plywood shacks as he returned by helicopter after a trip to Texas, but the White House remained silent on the encampment.

The Rev. Albert R. Sampson of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, sponsoring the march, said 200 persons had moved into the tent-shaped shelters by mid-afternoon and 500 to 700 were expected to be living there by nightfall.

Campaign leaders predict the protesters, vowing to stay until the nation meets their demands for more aid for the poor, will grow to 3,000 by the weekend.

Caravans moved toward the capital through the Carolinas, Colorado, Michigan and Pennsylvania.

How's That Again?

SMETHPORT, Pa. (AP) — As the result of a mistake by the McKean County Democratic Committee Thomas Conway will be running for county assemblyman in the general election.

But Conway's not from McKean County. He's from Warren County and holds the 25th District Democratic state Senate nomination.

The mistake was discovered at the McKean County committee's bi-annual reorganization meeting Tuesday night.

Reveal V.C. Shot Down Nine U.S. Aircraft

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese who overran a Special Forces camp in the far north shot down nine U.S. aircraft, including a C130 transport that carried six American crewmen and possibly 150 South Vietnamese to their deaths. This would be the world's worst air disaster.

The story of what happened at Kham Duc was told by U.S. officers Tuesday, two days after the storm of battle broke over that camp only 30 miles southwest of Da Nang, the big South Vietnamese and U.S. Marine base.

The fact that officers reported about 5,000 enemy troops launched the attack showed that the North Vietnamese still operate freely in the area despite U.S. claims that their main supply base was destroyed in the A Shau Valley to the north.

The C130 was hit Sunday as it

To Realize Tourism Potential 'We Must Do A Better Job'

By BETTY RICE

"You have, when you want to, a most persistent and aggressive group of people."

These were the words of the Hon. Clifford L. Jones, State Secretary of the Department of Commerce. He was, at that moment Tuesday night at the Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau's membership kick-off dinner referring to the association of Warren representatives who fought diligently for the Dorcon road and Route 6 Warren bypass.

Jones indicated, however, that in order for Warren County and Forest to realize the full potential of tourism in regard to Kinzua Dam and Allegheny Reservoir, "we must—you must do a better job." He added the state must move first and broaden the market area.

The Commonwealth, the secretary stated, can provide only the "stepping stones," the people in the two-county area to take those steps. "The competition," Jones said, "is fantastic . . . not everybody knows we're here."

The secretary noted that Warren County has the highest per capita income in the state, the highest per household income in the state, a slow but steady population growth, the latest unemployment figure of 2.8 per cent but a lack of new industry and expansion.

Although Warren County, Jones pointed out, has not, as yet received any Appalachian funds, it is designed to receive certain things necessary to continue growth—a Voc-Tech School (and the state can offer help); a private airport (again possible state help) and tourism, which, he said can be of tremendous value toward a diversified economy.

Jones stated that while recruitment of management and personnel can be a problem, development of tourism can at

Hanoi Will Not Pay 'Ransom' To Get Bombing Halted

Vietnamese diplomat, made known a refusal to yield to U.S. requests that North Vietnam show restraint in return for a complete bombing pause.

"The United States must stop all bombing," his spokesman, Nguyen Van Sao, told reporters as the negotiations took a break after the opening session Monday.

But the play failed to deter Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, the American negotiator. He said he had been "hard at work with a microscope" going over Thuy's opening policy statement of Monday. "We have got to find some basis on which to move ahead," Harriman added.

The negotiators go into the second round of their talks Wednesday in France's International Conference Center.

The Hanoi spokesman also asserted it was a U.S. "slander" to say North Vietnamese were fighting in South Vietnam. Asked about this, Harriman replied that the presence of North Vietnamese in South Vietnam had been established, some had been captured, and added: "I don't know why they keep up this fiction."

Comment and action bearing on the Paris talks came from these distant places:

—In Washington President Johnson acknowledged Harriman's team faces "very hard negotiations" in the bid to silence the guns in Vietnam.

—In Moscow the state radio claimed Red China's Mao Tse-tung told Thuy frostily he considered "it was erroneous that Hanoi agreed to meet" the Americans. So far Peking's information organs have blacked out all word of the talks.

—In London Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart announced plans to visit Moscow May 22 for two day talks with his Soviet opposite number Andrei A. Gromyko. As cochairmen of the rusting Indo-Chinese conference machinery, the two men would share the task of convening any new, wider peace-conference that Thuy and Harriman might agree upon.

Thuy has said he wants "a clear and positive answer" from Harriman on whether the Americans will quit bombing and all other acts of war against North Vietnam.

If the Americans agree, he

Nixon Wins Substantial Tally on GOP Ballot

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y. swept to an impressive victory Tuesday in the Nebraska presidential primary, dealing a crushing blow to his chief ballot rival, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon ran away with the Republican race, although California Gov. Ronald Reagan surprised everyone by chalking up nearly a fourth of the GOP vote.

Kennedy, striving for a majority of the Democratic count in a state that gave his late brother, John F. Kennedy, the lowest percentage support in 1960, whirled off to an early lead. He see-sawed around 50 per cent of the total party vote with outlying rural areas where he might not be as strong remaining to be tabulated.

McCarthy, said the Nebraska outcome would not deter him from trying to bolster his faltering drive for the presidential nomination in the Oregon, California and South Dakota primaries.

His supporters said in advance that they would be satisfied with 30 per cent of the Democratic vote, and that was about where he was riding as the tabulations mounted.

Douglas County (Omaha) has about 26 per cent of the state's voters. Kennedy was topping McCarthy 60.40 in that area but was not expected to maintain that average when rural areas contributed to the count.

At 8 pm, CDT, NBC projected a Kennedy victory with the forecast that he might get more than 50 per cent of the Democratic vote. The Network said that on the basis of sample precincts Nixon seemed likely to rack up two-thirds of the Republican total.

CBS and ABC both projected a Kennedy victory. CBS said he would get at least 50 per cent of the vote, but ABC projected less than a majority for him.

The count from 416 of the state's 2,133 precincts was: Democratic—Kennedy 19,109, or 53 per cent of the vote counted; McCarthy 10,463, or 29 per cent; Humphrey 3,678, or 10 per cent; Johnson 1,917, or 5 per cent.

Republican—Nixon 23,799, or 69 per cent; Reagan 8,280, or 24 per cent; Rockefeller 1,696, or 5 per cent.

Vice President Hubert H. H. Humphrey, who looms as Kennedy's chief rival for the nomination, got only about a tenth of the Democratic vote on a write.

in that he publicly discouraged.

President Johnson, who quit the contest too late to get his name off the ballot, was polling about half of Humphrey's total.

But the first scattered returns in separate races to fill delegate rolls to cast the state's 30 convention delegates gave a slight edge to uncommitted candidates, most of whom might wind up in Humphrey's camp.

McCarthy delegates also were leading as well as some still running under Johnson's colors. Kennedy renewed his invitation to McCarthy to work together with him to change the course of the Democratic Party.

But McCarthy said he was going to contest the primaries in Oregon and in California, where he contends the vital tests will come.

The winner and the loser had far different readings of the returns.

Kennedy said his showing, plus the votes that went to McCarthy, made it clear that Democrats are dissatisfied with present policies and want to change the course of the party.

McCarthy insisted that he could have done far better in a contest which matched him and Kennedy head to head, without other entrants or write-in campaigns.

Eisenhower Checks Into Walter Reed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower checked in at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital Tuesday to continue his recovery from a mild heart attack.

After the general's transcontinental shift of hospitals, doctors reported he appears "in good spirits . . . (and) . . . is continuing to make progress."

They said it is anticipated that Eisenhower will remain at Walter Reed for several weeks. The doctors also reported that he "had enjoyed a noon meal on the flight."

The 77-year-old general was flown in a specially equipped Air Force jet from March Air Force Base, Calif., where he had been hospitalized since suffering the attack April 29 at his winter home in nearby Palm Desert.

His plane landed at Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland and he shuttled to Walter Reed by helicopter.

JEWELRY STORE BURGLARIZED

A burglar or burglars struck Siefert's Jewelry Store at 416 Pennsylvania ave. W., sometime Monday night or early Tuesday morning. Borough police Lt. Howard Ristau and Officer James Urey discovered the display window smashed at 3:40 a.m. Tuesday and an undetermined amount of jewelry taken. Sgt. Dinner tract same. Sales and promotion of the out-of-doors and not large city attractions are vital, he advised and pointed out the success in small, cultural recreation towns such as Gettysburg and Bedford. Hunting, fishing, golf, stables could be the base for industrial development, Jones said.

In Warren County, Jones stated, there was an estimated "gratuitous income from tourism of over $300,000 and a possible fantastic increase even before facilities are even here."

Vacation requirements, the secretary said, must fulfill all family needs.

Jones said the state had many plans for featuring the Kinzua Dam and Allegheny Reservoir both filmwise and in brochure form. He stated there is a potential $10,000 grant available if Warren-Forrest counties can come up with matching funds.

The importance of camp grounds, the popularity of travel-trailers as well as the need for resort facilities was stressed. "Ideas, enthusiasm and minor or major developments; participation in travel shows, good feature articles in national publications," all were urged by the principal speaker.

An early speaker urged a large membership, a broad base of support as being necessary for KDVB or "it's going to be a mess." In addition to the projects falling in the realm of the U.S. Forest Service and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the spokesman noted a need for doing things about smaller developments.

It was pointed out that tourism is big business in 86 Commonwealth counties with Canada hustling for the "tourist bug." "Others are spending thousands of dollars—not only big but smart money," it was mentioned, "and Warren and Forest must fight the competition, do analytical work and a vast number of other things including contributing money and work starting now."

Robert Dilks, first chairman of KDVB said the organization, at first a small but dedicated group, was now asking everyone to become involved in the windfall already gained through the reservoir and dam, the Allegheny National Forest and the areas' natural beauty. "They'll come to us," Dilks said, "whether we like it or not. So it's up to us to plan how they'll come to us—to avoid slipshod methods—to have some organization and coordination—otherwise they will come and go and not return."

"If you want to keep the area exactly as it is," Dilks added, "you can't—but if you want some control toward future development, become a member and contribute financially and actively."

Charles Tranter was commended for his man-sized effort as executive director while Dilks' leadership was also appreciated with the presentation of a pen and pencil set for his desk.

Robert R. Shoemaker, director, Travel Development Bureau, accompanied Secretary Jones and stated his bureau was interested when people involved in tourism showed an interest in travel and commerce. He said he will return to the area to meet with those seeking a permanent program and development of facilities.

Miss Warren County, Jane Roshong, presented mementos of the occasion to Jones and Shoemaker—maple syrup from Warren County, a souvenir marking Sheffield's Johnny Appleseed Festival and an appropriate cigarette lighter marking Tidouete's annual fishing tournament.

The area involved within the realm of KDVB included county commissioners from Warren and Forest counties and other county officials; members of Warren borough council, industry, county planning commission, businessmen, professional men, including doctors—

County Historical Society Now Lists 530 Members

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Warren County Historical Society, Tuesday evening, conducted by its new president, Donald E. Conaway, it was reported the present membership is 530. Mrs. Keith Chase, secretary of the society, reported that at the recent meeting of Pennsylvania Federation of Historical Societies, at Harrisburg, a copy of May issue of the Warren County society's quarterly magazine "Stepping Stones," was included in the special kits of historical material presented each delegate by the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission. It contains a comprehensive review of the Cobham family, with many striking photographs, written by W. F. Clinger Sr., the journal's editor. The Cobhams were the descendants of Lord Cobham Oldcastle, known in English literature as the famed "Falstaff" of Shakespeare's plays.

The May issue of Stepping Stones, now in the mail to members, is available on the news stands and at Warren County Historical Society headquarters in the Court House Annex.

Past president Ernest C. Miller, widely known historian of the petroleum industry, and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Chase represented the Warren County Historical Society at the state federation meeting.

The fourth new member is President Donald Conaway.

Upon a motion by W. Floyd Clinger Sr., seconded by Harold Putnam, the directors reaffirmed a gift of $1,000 toward the erection of the Three Flags flag-staffs in Crescent Park, being jointly erected by the Warren County Historical Society and the Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau, to be dedicated on Memorial Day. The original resolution passed June 7, 1967, by the board, upon motion of past president T. Kenneth Stratton, seconded by Franklin R. Hoff, authorizing this contribution to this historical monument to the county's past, appeared to require extension beyond the year 1967.

President Conaway appointed the following committee chairman: field trips, Dr. William Cashman; volunteers, Mrs. Helen Israel; publicity, Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Stratton.

Contest Winners To Be Announced
Winners of the essay contest sponsored by the Northwest Allegheny Conservation Association will be announced at a public meeting Wednesday at the courthouse.

Has Eight Pups On Mother's Day

"Tramp" the thoroughbred mongrel pet of the Ted Kirsch family at Weldbank, celebrated Mother's Day by giving birth to a litter of eight pups.

This is "Tramp's" first litter. She was obtained last summer from the Warren County Humane Society, and is a very much loved pet.

Eight pups are considered a big dividend on the initial investment.

Kirsch, a forester in the Allegheny National Forest supervisor's office, says they will be happy to find homes for the newcomers when they can leave their mother.

Walsh Plans to Oppose Goodell for Nomination

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — David M. Walsh, Montour Falls, N.Y. (Schuyler County) was in Jamestown Tuesday to announce he will seek the Democratic nomination for congressman from the 38th district, and oppose the current representative, Charles E. Goodell, Jamestown. In addition to Chautauque County the 38th congressional district is composed of Cattaraugus, Allegany, Schuyler and Steuben Counties.

Walsh said he intends to conduct a campaign based on a full discussion of the issues which confront the U.S., both domestic and international. At a news conference held at the Apple Inn in Fluvanna, he charged Goodell during his nine years as a congressman has neglected the real needs of the district.

Walsh is employed by the Corning Glass Works as a process engineer. The Democratic aspirant is a life long resident of Schuyler County and was graduated from Watkins Glen Central School, attended the University of Louisville, and is a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Following his graduation from the Naval Academy, he was commissioned in the Navy as an ensign and served five years shipboard duty in the Pacific, including Vietnam.

The Schuyler County Democrat is a member of the U.S. Naval Institute, the American Legion, BPO Elks, Jaycees and was recently elected Democratic State committeeman by the Schuyler County Democratic Committee. The father of four children, he lives with his wife, Patricia, on a farm near Montour Falls.

Survey Shows State Welfare Programs Could Be Improved

A charge was made recently that Pennsylvania's welfare program was the worst in the nation, and that payments were sometimes insufficient to buy food and clothing and pay the rent. The Associated Press checked state and local officials, and recipients themselves. The first of a two part series on the matter follows:

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dr. George A. Wiley, director of the Poverty Rights Action Center in Washington, D. C., said recently in Pittsburgh: "Pennsylvania's welfare programs are the worst in the nation."

Is he right? Do half the people in Pennsylvania who need public help to pay rent, buy food, clothe themselves and keep well — fail to get it; as Wiley alleges.

Is a new federal law which requires mothers to learn a job "brutal, lawless and intimidating" as Wiley claims?

Are state welfare payments — anytime — 40 per cent below what he says are the minimum standards of living set by the federal government?

To shed some light on the allegations, The Associated Press surveyed city and county officials across the state.

The conclusion: Much is being done, but more should be done.

Welfare is inadequate. Relief grants and food programs today fail to raise a Pennsylvania mother and her one child above the poverty level.

Some states are doing better. Roughly, the average family in Pennsylvania on public assistance — and there are more than 410,000 recipients — receive only about 70 per cent of the minimum money needed, according to the federal standards which were established in 1957, to live in health and decency.

That's what the survey showed.

Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, recognizing the deficiency, has asked the state legislature for $18.3 million more, starting next Jan. 1, to raise the level of assistance to 90 per cent of the federal "health and decency" level.

Dr. Thomas W. Georges, Jr., state secretary of public welfare, says "Pennsylvania is right up there in the third of the states in cash grants to people in need, and it has an outstanding medical aid program."

The state now spends about $425 million annually for public assistance, with the federal government paying half that bill.

Georges cites a recent U. S. study which shows Pennsylvania:

— 4th among states in relief payments with average monthly checks of $59 per person compared to a national average of $39.70.

— 5th in blind pensions with a $109.85 average monthly check, compared to $89.35 average nationally.

— 11th in old age assistance, paying $75.05 against $69.70 nationally.

— 22nd in aid to dependent children, with family average of $165.60 compared to $160.50 nationally — and $38.75 per child compared to $39.20 nationally.

— 27th in aid to the disabled, paying $73.50 monthly compared to national average of $79.50.

Georges says $11.3 million of the additional funds Shafer is seeking will pay for medical bills for over a million Pennsylvanians who now can't afford proper treatment.

Welfare checks are paid twice monthly in Pennsylvania. State, county and local officials make constant efforts to find work for welfare recipients so they can go off the relief rolls.

"Every employable person is required to keep an active registration with the Pennsylvania State Employment Service," said Paul A. Taylor, executive director of the Centre County Board of Assistance. "He or she is also expected to look for work by personal efforts."

But there are many drawbacks: age, color sometimes, education and health.

Typical of the dilemma of the poor is the case of a 59-year-old Allegheny Negro, illiterate, with emphysema (a lung disease) and under doctor's orders not to do strenuous work. He receives a $42.50 check every two weeks, and reportedly barely scrapes through.

"I want to go out and work for money I can earn," he said. "I don't want to be on anybody's hands."

A young woman with an infant gets a $64 check. Out of this she pays, generally, half for rent for two weeks which leaves little for food, clothes, medicine etc.

"She's chronically struggling to make ends meet," said a Lehigh County social worker. "She's lucky she has a grocery store where she can charge. This is typical of most small families public assistance has to deal with."

Peter H. Smith, director of Washington County Board of Public Assistance, says recipients must be good managers to live on welfare and believes most of them are.

Frank Setcavage, executive director of the Allegheny County Board of Assistance, disputes Wiley's contention that half of the welfare applicants are rejected in Pennsylvania.

"I don't know where he got his figures," says Setcavage. "I know that in Allegheny the rejection rate is only 25 per cent. And of the 25 out of 100 that are rejected, 12 of those never come back a second time to followup."

Dr. Mildred Fairchild Woodbury, a retired Bryn Mawr College professor who helped set the present standards 11 years ago, says now they're woefully inadequate — that even 100 per cent of what was the barest minimum in 1957 certainly is much too little today "if children going to school are to maintain their dignity."

Hearings have been held all over the state on what should be done. Welfare recipients have marched on Harrisburg, threatened to march on Washington and have demanded something better, something more.

Mrs. Olivia Zebrowski of Philadelphia, mother of five and expecting a sixth, recently told a state Department of Public Assistance hearing, what she wants: "I just want my kids to live decent. It's hard to tell your child he can't have what he needs. My seven-year-old goes around without a coat and he looks like a bum."

(Next: Is $21.25 a week enough for a person to live on?)

House Throws Out Roll Call On Controversial Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House, in a rare parliamentary move, threw out a roll call on a controversial bill Tuesday after minority Democrats charged that the chamber's rules had been violated.

The Republican-sponsored bill would have authorized counties to borrow money and provide financial assistance for capital improvements at state colleges and state-related universities.

The measure appeared to have the bare 102 votes necessary for passage, but opposing Democrats challenged the roll call and asked for a new one.

Acting Speaker H. Jack Seltzer, R-Lebanon, refused to order another roll call, but after Democrats persisted the vote was set aside and final action postponed.

It marked a victory, temporarily at least, for Minority Leader Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia, and the Democratic side which earlier had tried unsuccessfully to amend the bill.

The legislation was sponsored by Rep. Matthew J. Ryan, R-Delaware, who said the commissioners in his home county wanted to provide funds for a new branch campus of Pennsylvania State University.

Rep. James J. A. Gallagher, D-Bucks, offered an amendment that would have required that such aid receive the approval of the State Board of Education, which opposed establishment of the Penn State branch.

The debate on the amendment rekindled the fires of controversy over the relative merits of Penn State's network of branch campuses and the state's system of 2-year community colleges.

Gallagher noted that the Master plan for Higher Education, developed by the State Board at a cost of a half million dollars, recommended that it be given authority to "review and approve all requests for capital improvements" at state-aided colleges and universities.

Ryan rejected Gallagher's argument, however, contending that the taxpayers of Delaware County through their elected commissioners should be entitled to provide aid without interference from the state.

The amendment fell, 76-112, and that's when the fireworks began.

Fineman charged Republicans with repudiating the Master Plan, a product of the administration of former Gov. William W. Scranton, and urged Democrats to vote against the bill.

The roll call was taken, and Republicans, with the help of a handful of Democrats, appeared to have the votes. Fineman, however, called for a verification.

The Democratic leader noted that two Republicans recorded as voting for the bill were not in the chamber. He asked Seltzer for a new roll call.

When Seltzer refused, Fineman accused the acting speaker of being "high handed and tyrannical," a charge that drew a quick response from the Republican side.

Majority Leader Lee A. Donaldson, R-Allegheny, said Fineman had agreed to letting the absentee be voted, since they were attending a committee meeting.

Fineman said he would let them be voted, if Seltzer ordered another roll call.

"If the majority side has the votes, why don't they agree to another roll call," challenged Rep. A. J. Demedto, D-Washington.

After more than a half hour of each side reading portions of the House rules in defense of their positions, Ryan suggested that the roll call be set aside and the bill held over.

HARRISBURG (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Education Committee said Tuesday a joint legislative panel would not be able to reach a compromise agreement this week on a disputed teachers' salary bill.

The chairman, Sen. Preston B. Davis, R-Northumberland, said there still remain areas of disagreement that the six-member conference committee has not been able to resolve.

"To say we are deadlocked would not be true," Davis said. "We had hoped to resolve our differences today, but some issues were not resolved."

"We are close, but I regretfully say that we probably will not be able to resolve the issue this week."

At issue is a bill that would provide funds to increase the pay of the state's 100,000 public school teachers. The House version of the bill would provide about $54 million, but the Senate's plan would give the teachers only $36 million.

Asked if money was still the major unresolved issue, Davis replied:

"Money is always a major issue."

Davis would not discuss specifics of the conference committee negotiations.

"I don't believe it would be fair to give out details at this time," Davis said.

Another legislative source, however, said the panel had been able to win a concession from the Shafer Administration that more than $36 million could be allocated for teachers' salary increases.

Earlier, Gov. Shafer had threatened to veto any legislation that called for an outlay of more than $36 million.

The reported concession raised the possibility that a compromise measure that would cost something like $40 million eventually might be adopted by the committee.

Davis said the Senate's present timetable calls for session next Wednesday and Thursday, even though the House has adjourned until Monday, May 27.

In the House, meanwhile, Majority Leader Lee A. Donaldson

House Passes Compromise Version of Mortgage Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — Legislation aimed at making more mortgage money available, but at a premium rate, received final legislative approval in the House Tuesday and went to Gov. Shafer for his signature.

By a vote of 113-71, the House passed a compromise version of the bill, which failed to win over the legislation's chief opponent, the Pennsylvania League for Consumer Protection.

The measure would authorize banks and other lending institutions to charge a 1 per cent premium in addition to the maximum 6 per cent interest rate on mortgage loans contracted during the next 5 years.

Only brief debate preceded the roll call. Rep. C. L. Schmitt, D-Westmoreland, charged that the legislation "exploited the consumers of Pennsylvania."

Supporters said, however, that prospective home buyers would be unable to secure mortgage loans during the current "tight money" situation unless banks were allowed the premium.

Amendments written into the bill by a joint House-Senate conference committee placed the 5-year limitation on the premium and banned existing loans from being affected.

The House unanimously passed a bill aimed at protecting the employment rights of national guardsmen called to active duty by the governor. The measure went to the Senate.

Employers would be prohibited from dismissing or demoting an employee called up for riot duty or for any other reason.

Rep. Franklin L. Kury, D-Northumberland, introduced the bill in the wake of the recent Pittsburgh riots. He said guardsmen in his district were threatened by their employers with dismissal.

Kury noted that federal law protects the civilian jobs of guardsmen called to active duty by the President, but no such law exists on the state level.

The Senate passed and sent to the House legislation that would provide for compulsory arbitration in labor disputes involving police and firemen. The proposal would implement a constitutional amendment approved by the voters last November.

In other legislative developments:

Teachers — A joint conference committee attempting to work out a compromise teacher salary bill was reported close to an agreement, but the issue was not expected to be resolved this week.

Nurses — The House gave final approval to a bill that would eliminate the minimum age requirement of 20 for registered nurses in Pennsylvania. The measure went to the governor on a unanimous vote.

Shafer — The governor meanwhile signed a resolution of intent, which promised that the state would appropriate up to $1 million to pay the national guardsmen called up during the civil disturbances in Pittsburgh last month.

Something To Do

How many persons in the Warren area spent last Sunday wishing they had something to do, somewhere to go?

With the weather what it was the number afflicted with a heavy dose of boredom could have been sizeable. And yet at least a handful of persons went somewhere and had a pleasant afternoon doing something rather than stay at home and commiserate. These were the participants on the nature walk on Game Lands 29 sponsored by the newly organized outdoor club.

Tramping along the trail with Bill Highhouse and Harris Johnson pointing out the items of interest in a natural wonderland, they were unmindful of the leaden skies and a chill in the wind.

Why the group didn't number many more is hard to understand. For taking a short walk through the forest to a woodland pond is a most companionable way to pass the time and offers an unusual opportunity for full family participation. And it is one of the few ways one can come to appreciate the wealth of such opportunities that exist in Warren County.

Our tremendous potential for outdoor recreation and fun is a community asset that can only be utilized through public participation. Within its scope is some form of activity that should appeal to everyone; from the back-packer to the flower picker, from the youth to the aged, and especially to the family that wants to play together and stay together.

If membership in the Allegheny Outdoor Club was a requirement, it might be different. But to date there is no membership. Anyone so inclined is welcome to their scheduled events, or may even suggest events that would be more to their liking. Its simple goal is to sponsor festivals of outdoor fun for everyone in a county exceptionally endowed for the purpose.

Special Report From Eden

WASHINGTON — A special news report on the expulsion from Eden, composed after sitting through a half dozen network TV special reports on this year's political events:

tounded all of us who have been covering the Eden story just as much as it must have astounded you.

"The divine announcement that the expulsion is the result of Eve's eating some sort of forbidden fruit was a bombshell to reporters who have been following events in the garden. The announcement did not say what kind of fruit it was that Eve ate, but as you know we have our computers programmed to estimate the approximate nature of anything that can conceivably occur in Eden, and we should have a projection on that for you any minute now. In the meantime, here is Herb Hicap at Adam's headquarters. Come in Herb."

"Thanks, Walter. There is an atmosphere of anticipation and doubt here at Adam headquarters. Adam has been upstairs since early in the evening and presumably heard the announcement on television. What he has been doing since, nobody here knows. The best guess is that he is packing."

"Have you been able to find what kind of fruit Eve ate, Herb?"

"There is a rumor here, Walter, that it was an avocado, but it's based on nothing more substantial than a rumor that Eve has always had an intense liking for avocados."

"Thank you, Herb. We are going to switch to our computer center now, David?"

"Walter, our computers have had a scientifically selected sample of fresh fruit fed into them, along with a lot of data about feminine psychology, and the projection they give us is that when the story is all in it will turn out that Eve ate 63 Malaga grapes and an overripe banana."

"There it is, ladies and gentlemen; 63 Malaga grapes and an overripe banana. That's the way our network computer is calling it at this minute. Of course, at this stage it's merely a projection. The immediate question, of course, is where Adam and Eve will take up residence when they leave the garden, and for some thoughts on that we go to Bill Rinse, the only reporter on earth who predicted three months ago that Adam and Eve would be expelled, Bill?"

"Where they go isn't very important, Walter. The real question puzzling Eden analysts tonight is what they'll wear. Eden is a pretty tolerant place, not to mention climatically balmy, and they've been able to get by until now without wearing anything at all. But observers agree that from now on they're going to have to slip into something more uncomfortable."

"Would you care to make a prediction, Bill, about what it will be?"

"In a year like this, Walter, no reporter wants to predict anything, but my guess would be that they'll put on tomato leaves."

"Thanks, Bill. We have word that Dan Quite, our snakehouse correspondent, is standing by with a bulletin. Come in, Dan."

"A few minutes ago, Walter, the Galapagos turtle informed us that it was a serpent who persuaded Eve to eat the fruit. The serpent's motives are still unknown, but speculation centers on the probability that he was acting as a stalking snake for someone else hoping to knock Adam and Eve out of the garden. If so, the serpent will have to be considered a strong possibility for the vice presidential nomination."

"I should say so, Dan. It may interest all of us to know that our computers have been busy since we last heard from them and have a new fruit estimate. What are they saying now, David?"

"Walter, additional raw fruit has been fed into the computers since their last report, and they have now refined their forecast. They now say that the forbidden fruit will prove to have been an apricot."

"What is the computer projection of what Adam and Eve will wear after Eden, David?"

"Thank you, David. Wally Jakes, who's covering Richard Nixon, is with Mr. Nixon right now in Coo's Bay. Would you get out of the picture, Wally, and let Mr. Nixon tell us how tonight's returns from Eden will affect his campaign?"

"Thank you, Walter. Of course, what's happened in Eden affects all of us, but I myself was not personally contesting there and therefore..."

"WELCOME TO THE PEACE TABLE"

Safety In The Home

WASHINGTON—For the first time in history, a federal commission for safety in the home will begin to function today (May 15). It's the National Commission on Product Safety, and is aimed at preventing accidents in the home.

Most people know that a large proportion of accidents occur in the home, ranging from short-circuiting electrical plugs to slips in the bathtub. The latter probably cannot be prevented, but many home accidents can — especially when they result from flammable curtains, sweaters which ignite easily, faulty power mowers, and other products regarding which the public should be warned.

Godfather of the National Commission on Public Safety is Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., ex-long-time bachelor who has done more to protect the housewife than probably any other Senator. Following his lead, President Johnson has appointed a tough consumer-minded commission, headed by Arnold Elkind, New York trial lawyer, and including Hugh L. Ray, a director of Sears Roebuck; Emory Crofoot, Portland, Ore., city attorney; Michael Pertschuk, Magnuson's general counsel; Henry A. Hill, president, Riverside Research Lab, Cambridge, Mass.; Sidney Margolius, consumer columnist for trade union cooperatives, New York City; and Dana Young, vice president of the Southwest Research Institute, San Antonio.

Already the National Association of Manufacturers has been taking potshots at the commission, claims it is too consumer-oriented.

The new commission will wage an education campaign regarding dangerous products and may crack down on some of them.

It's been a long time since mules were a problem in the nation's Capital, but Rep. Thomas Abernethy of Okolona, Miss., is a man who understands mules and is concerned about them. It was not too long ago that the mule was the No. 1 source of power in the cotton fields of Mississippi.

Rep. Abernethy is a member of the District of Columbia committee, and when the quartering of the Poor People's March was under discussion he was interested in the quartering of its mules.

"What," he asked Mayor Walter Washington in a committee hearing, "are you going to do with all those mules the poor people bring in? Where are you going to put them?"

"It is beyond sanitation," replied Mayor Walter Washington. "It may be a police problem."

Rep. Abernethy—"The policemen don't look after the mules. I understand there are 25 teams alone of mules coming up from my state. If all those mules are brought in here, where are you going to put them? What plans are be-

In The Fish Room

WASHINGTON, D. C. — We sat in the Fish Room waiting. It is an intimate room with a big rosewood table and high-backed chairs. Once, the wall held a bluish caught by John F. Kennedy. Everyone called the place the Fish Room. Now the flat white walls are decorated with Christmas paintings of the Hill Country of Texas; landscapes that are peopled with bluebonnets and that melt into rocky hills ribbed with patches of yellow flowers.

Some old friends came in to chat while we waited for President Lyndon Johnson. The lower echelon group — policemen and Secret Service men — have "tenure." After January 20th, they still will work here. The others, appointive men of substance, are already looking for work. The feelers are out in many directions.

President Johnson kept the Kennedy crowd with him, even though their loyalties were to a dead knight. Now they too have left, swinging a free leg up on the Robert Kennedy wagon, hoping to get back in power if he makes the grade. In the back of the White House, the Jacqueline Kennedy Rose Garden, as formal and wind-blown as its namesake, will stay.

The little attic room on the third floor is due for a change, depending on the whim of the new man. It has an inclined slope. Franklin D. Roosevelt used to be wheeled up there to read and look off to the mists of sailboats on the Potomac. Truman used it for poker games with cronies. On those evenings, he added a little bourbon and a splash of branch water.

Mrs. Kennedy used it as a classroom for Caroline. Women friends of hers from Georgetown sent their children — by invitation only — to the White House center hall at 8:30 a.m., five days a week. All of them, ing made to take care of these mules?"

Mayor Washington—"It is a police matter. Chief, do you care to speak on this?"

Chief Layton—"I don't at this moment have any firm information on how many or what they are going to do. Now, of course, if they use mules or horses or animals of that kind to pull a conveyance and they move through the city, through the streets, as with other traffic, there would be no need for any police action. As to housing them, we don't have any facilities in the police department for that."

Rep. Abernethy—"What I have reference to, this deals with the expenditure of funds of either the District or the federal government. I don't know who is going to pay for this. I don't think anybody has thought about it. Certainly they are not going to have these mules roaming all over the city of Washington. They have to put them somewhere, someone has to pay for it. I want to know what plans you made to take care of them."

Mayor Washington—"We are not passing it.

I thought you were trying to get at a police matter. The matter of how many mules or where they are going to be depends upon where they are going to be established. We have been in touch with the Interior Department and the Justice Department as to the entire matter. This is only one facet of it, the matter of public safety. There have been no permits requested, for instance, although there has been mention of a number of sites."

Rep. Abernethy—"If they bring in as many as we hear they are going to bring, it will cost a lot of money to look after them. Do you feel that the revenue of the District of Columbia should be used for the purpose of taking care of these mules?"

Mayor Washington—"Certainly not. I understand that the matter of their expenses are taken care of by their own resources. When we get a fairer idea of how many and what kind of conveyances, we will be in a better position to deal with it."

Rep. Abernethy—"We have only one fenced-in place in this town capable of holding the mules and it is around the White House grounds."

Mayor Washington—"We don't have any intention of putting them over there."

The Federal Trade Commission has ordered a crackdown on fly-by-night computer training schools which attract students with misleading advertising about the high pay that awaits all graduates.

A few of these schools accept students who have no aptitude for computer work, squeeze a big tuition out of them and push them through a course they can't understand.

The Office of Education may help stop the abuses by accrediting schools which can meet government standards.

idents, he will start to write his memoirs. The President put on a broad smile. In the field of writing, he defers to Mrs. Johnson. She has a degree in journalism. He isn't sure what she will do, but he said: "You know, she has kept a strict diary from the first day we got here."

On the cold, factual record, Lyndon Johnson emerges as the most productive President of all time. More progressive legislation has been enacted in any one year of his tenure of office than other Presidents have achieved in four. If he and Mrs. Johnson write a book — or a series of them — there will be some electrifying disclosures of history behind the scenes.

He doesn't look like a so-called lame-duck President. Obviously, he doesn't feel like one. He is now free to call his shots openly, without fear or favor. He can do as he pleases for the next eight months. And, in spite of his critics, he can step down in a blaze of glory.

When we parted, the President said something unusual. It had an air of finality about it. He shook hands and murmured: "God bless you, Jim." In January, the nation may be saying that to him...

SYLVIA PORTER

Your Money's Worth

As usual, I will write this column every full business day during May and July, a fact with which I am "conforming" myself as I report that a record 20 per cent of all office firms and a peak one out of four factories will grant employees at least one four-day weekend either this month or in July, over the Memorial or July 4 holidays.

Both holidays fall on Thursday this year and some companies are granting two long weekends rather than "waste" either a mid-week holiday.

The trend toward longer vacations and more liberal vacation policies continues without letup, according to a new Prentice-Hall survey. To give you an idea of how your own leisure time compares, here are more of Prentice-Hall findings and facts from other current surveys on today's vacation-holiday trends:

Longer vacations are now being granted after shorter periods of service. The majority of U.S. companies employing office workers, three out of five, grant two-week vacations after one year service, and virtually all allow a two-week vacation after two years of service. The majority grant a three-week vacation after 10 years of service and one in 10 offices grants a three-week vacation after only two years of service. Growing numbers of employees are getting four-week vacations after 15 years of service.

Where employees are covered by union contracts, the five and six-week vacation is spreading rapidly, and some unions have won a seventh week of vacation for long-term employees.

More and more paid holidays also are being granted. The United Auto Workers will get a 10th paid holiday this year, and an 11th holiday in 1970. On average, the U.S. worker now gets seven or eight paid holidays a year.

Today, the great majority of companies allow employees to take their vacations at just about any time during the year — and allow employees to split their vacations into, say, a summer week off and a winter week off.

Some companies give employees their birthdays off; some provide extra "floating holidays" which can be taken at any time an employee wants; often to make a long weekend; some award "bonus" weeks off after their 5th, 10th, 15th and 20th years of service to the company; some give bonus pay during vacations.

These figures and trends become all the more dramatic when you consider that as recently as 1940, two paid holidays were the rule for most U.S. workers. As recently as 1941, only one in four employees got a paid vacation at all. If they got one, it was usually one week per year. Only a few years ago, the five-week vacation was almost non-existent, and the four-week vacation was reserved almost exclusively for employees with 20, 25 or more years of service.

Where are today's vacation-holiday trends leading?

The non-profit Southern California Research Council recently predicted, on the basis of an extensive survey of trends in leisure time, that by 1985 — only 17 years from now — the typical worker in this country will have the choice of a 25-week vacation, retirement at age 38, a 22-hour workweek, or double his current earnings.

This project may seem exaggerated. But don't be so sure.

Instead, let it be a warning to you to start thinking how you would spend a 25-week vacation meaningfully, what you would do with your days if you worked a 22-hour instead of a 40-hour week, and how you would handle "retirement" at age 38. Are you prepared or preparing to enjoy this leisure time? Or will it become an agony of boredom?

Youngville High School Band will make the first appearance in their new uniforms at a free concert at 8 p. m. May 24.

MASON DENISON

Thank The Opposition

HARRISBURG — In one sense at least, it seems that Shafar Administration Republicans simply don't appreciate what opposition Democrats are doing for them!

The point at which we are driving is this:

Political parties as a rule do not care to be associated with anything that has to do with taxing the voting peasantry; it's simply regarded as frightfully poor political strategy.

Thus when an administration of one political faith occupies the front office, lawmakers of the opposition politically leaning, invariably shrug their legislative shoulders insofar as revenue-raising measures are concerned and simply say: "Brother that's your worry, not ours; we'll let you have the honor of being known as the ones responsible for the tax program!"

Well, Republicans happen to be in the driver's seat at the moment both insofar as the executive branch is concerned and both houses of the legislative branch — therefore why should legislative Democrats be concerned about revenue-raising measures?

Offhand it would seem that they wouldn't — but alas, that isn't quite the case this year. Lo and behold a joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment has been introduced in the Senate legalizing — a graduated income tax for Pennsylvania's warm taxpaying brood.

It carries the sponsorship not of a Republican — but of a Democratic member of that august body: Senator Thomas P. McCreesh, of Philadelphia. It might be added that he is the only sponsor. It might also be added that the bill has languished in the (Republican-controlled) Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations Committee since March 25. It's still there.

Actually the bill is simplicity itself. Section 1, Article VIII of the State Constitution starts out very blithely, saying merely: "All taxes shall be uniform," etc.

The only thing Senator McCreesh's bill would do is add three puny words, to make the phrase read as follows:

"All taxes, except income taxes, shall be uniform" — which should it ever be approved by two legislatures and the voting populace would authorize a graduated income tax in the Keystone State.

As matters stand at the moment (and have for nearly the past one hundred years) Pennsylvania's Constitution generally is interpreted to exclude the "graduated" income tax (the basic reason why Pennsylvania doesn't have such a fiscal ogre on its statute books today).

However, a non-graduated or flat income tax, as for example, one percent, generally is regarded as constitutionally possible.

It was this type of income tax Governor Shafar proposed to the Legislature last year, although it was his suggestion that it be set up on a "stand-by" basis on a rate of around one percent, to go into effect when appropriations should reach the $1.9 billion mark in the State's General Fund Budget. (As a point of interest, Mr. Shafar's budgetary proposal for the upcoming 1968-69 fiscal year now exceeds the $2 billion mark.)

His Excellency's stand-by income tax suggestion never got off the breakfast table insofar as the Legislature is concerned. It's still little more than a pipe dream — or nightmare.

In any event, the great hue and cry from the administration is the constantly growing need for more funds, and although Mr. Shafar has not proposed any additional tax burden (in this legislative election year) administration chieftains make no bones about the need for more shillings in the near future.

Out-of-office minority Democrats themselves have proposed "legalizing" a graduated income tax for Pennsylvania via the McCreesh bill — which gives Republicans the opportunity to pick up the bill and with a shrug say, for the benefit of the present and posterity:

"Pennsylvania's graduated income tax was a Democratic proposal!"

Pizza Diamonds Fill Up A Crowd of Hungry Kids

Wise moms know that where youngsters are concerned, they can't serve pizza too often. Mealtime, snack time, party time — any ol' time — spicy Italian pizza steals the scene. Pizza Diamonds are two large pizzas cleverly decorated with strips of cheese to form diamond shapes; inside the diamonds are a bevy of traditional pizza garnishes — olives, mushrooms and pepperoni slices. Of course, you can vary the garnishes according to what you have on hand and what your group of kids like best. Reach for a couple of cans of tomato sauce to give proper Italian tomato-zest to the pizza. Have some basil, oregano and Parmesan cheese handy, too. Make the easy pizza dough from biscuit mix and yeast.

PIZZA DIAMONDS
1 package active dry yeast
2/3 cup warm water
2 1/2 cups biscuit mix
2 tablespoons pure vegetable oil
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
1/2 teaspoon crushed basil
1/2 teaspoon crushed oregano
2 packages (6 ounces each) sliced Mozzarella cheese
1 can (2 ounces) mushroom caps, drained
1/2 cup pitted ripe olives, halved
1/2 cup sliced pepperoni

Grated Parmesan cheese
Dissolve yeast in water; stir in biscuit mix. On floured surface knead dough 10 times; divide in half and allow to "rest" a few minutes. Roll or pat each half of dough on oiled baking sheet to 14x10-inch rectangle; pinch edges to form rim. Brush dough with oil. Spread tomato sauce over dough; sprinkle with basil and oregano. Slice cheese lengthwise into 1/2-inch strips; arrange strips in diagonal rows on dough to form diamond design. Arrange mushrooms, olives and pepperoni slices in diamond spaces; sprinkle Parmesan lightly all over. Bake at 450 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes or until crust is golden brown. Cut into squares for serving. Makes 2 large pizzas.

Perfect Pasta Quickie For A Patio Luncheon

If you're a gal with a green thumb, don't hide the colorful result of that talent from your friends. Invite them over for luncheon on the patio to chat and see your pretty garden. For you, it will be an afternoon of well-deserved compliments — even more so if you cook up a really unusual dish, Garden of the Sea Spaghetti. Uncle Luigi didn't bring this unconventional spaghetti over from the old country. We thought it up ourselves. Sea-fresh tuna flavors the smooth, rich sauce along with the surprise addition of a ripe avocado. Plenty of shredded Cheddar cheese gives the sauce body, a golden color and a very special tang. Cheese adds protein as well as flavor. We've used cream of celery soup in our sauce because the flavor is particularly complementary to the tuna and avocado. And so easy: Hats off to the originator of the soup-to-sauce idea! One word here about the avocado: Since ripe avocado softens very rapidly, it's best to add it to the sauce at the VERY END. You'll find you get the best appearance as well as the best flavor this way. The spaghetti is no trouble at all when you follow package directions and remember to toss the pasta with butter after you've drained it. This keeps the spaghetti from sticking and gives it a richer taste. Serve Garden of the Sea Spaghetti with a fresh tossed garden salad and great mugs of milk. It makes a light lunch, a different one, and so simple that you feel like you whipped it up with a magic wand!

GARDEN OF THE SEA SPAGHETTI
1 can (10 1/2 oz.) cream of celery soup
1 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon onion powder

1/4 teaspoon salt
1 can (13 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked
1/3 cup pimiento strips
2 cups (9 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
1 avocado, cubed
8 oz. uncooked spaghetti
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
In large skillet gradually add milk to soup; stir in onion powder, salt, tuna and pimiento. Heat over low heat 15-20 minutes. Stir in Cheddar cheese until melted; then avocado. Meanwhile, cook spaghetti according to package directions; drain and toss with butter and Parmesan cheese. Makes 6 servings.

Ludlow Area News

By MRS. HILDUR WENSTRAN
Sunday morning services were conducted by the Rev. Carl F. Eliason at the Moriah Lutheran Church, using for his sermon topic "The Spirit of Truth". Spectacular Pie —
Apricot Baked Alaska

APRICOT ALASKA PIE
Capture Baked Alaska in a pie. Apricot Alaska Pie, with graham cracker nut crust, is an after-dinner sensation with creamy iced coffee.

Even though no history of Baked Alaska seems to be available, it must be American because it used to be called "Alaska-Florida." (That's because of the combination of hot and cold in the same dessert.) Just to confuse us, it goes by other aliases too — including Norwegian Omelette and Omelette Souffle Surprise. But don't let the "Alaska" or "Norwegian" part fool you — it's just called that because, lady, it's cold inside.

Baked Alaska has been dubbed a "tour de force that always seems gala." True enough. But if you want to be extra gala — if you really want to send the ladies' bridge club, the school board or the civic club — here's the magic formula for the Alaska to end all Alaskas. (So far!) It's Apricot Alaska Pie with a graham cracker nut crust.

A big convenience feature of this spectacular dessert is that you can make it ahead of time, all but the meringue, and freeze it. In fact, you SHOULD freeze it, to keep the ice cream firm even when the pie is "baked." But whipping up the apricot meringue, piling it in lush billows on the pie, and browning the finished product in the oven... all that has to be done at the very last minute, and the pie served immediately, if you want an Alaska that's sensational. "Sensational" in this case means the crust is crisp, the ice cream firm, the meringue glazed, delicately browned and slightly warm.

Marshmallows and apricot preserves give this pie a creamier meringue topping than any plain ordinary Alaska can boast — almost a marshmallow sauce.

This particular recipe calls for graham cracker crumbs and chopped nuts for the crust, which needs no baking. But you can vary the kind of crumbs used.

Apricot Alaska Pie is a sensation served with iced coffee — especially iced coffee topped with frothy whipped cream to match the pie!

Have A Cooky
Of Jam, Pecans
Called Pinkster

A cooky that's as delightful as its name is called a Pinkster. This is what's known as a thumbprint cooky, its impression filled with raspberry jam.

Pinksters are a delicate cooky, too, with their high proportion of lard to brown sugar, points out Reba Staggs, home economist for the National Live Stock and Meat Board. They're rolled in egg white, then in chopped pecans to be baked for five minutes before the impression is made with a finger, usually the thumb. After baking, this indentation is filled with raspberry jam.

Pinksters
½ cup lard
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg
1 egg yolk
2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg white
1½ cups chopped pecans
Seedless raspberry jam

Cream together lard and sugar. Add well beaten egg and egg yolk. Mix in flour and salt. Roll dough into small balls about the size of a walnut. Dip into slightly beaten egg white, then roll in chopped pecans. Place on a greased cooky sheet and make a depression in the center of each ball.

Bake 5 minutes in a slow oven (300°F.). Remove from oven, press down center again. Continue baking for 15 minutes. Cool slightly, then fill center with jam. Yield: 3 dozen cookies.

APRICOT ALASKA PIE
Nut Crumb Crust:
1½ cups graham cracker crumbs (14 squares)
¼ cup finely chopped nuts
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup (½ stick) butter, melted

Filling:
2 pints vanilla ice cream
½ cup apricot preserves
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Meringue Topping:
2 cups (½ lb.) marshmallows
2 tablespoons apricot preserves
2 egg whites
¼ cup sugar

To prepare Crust: In a small bowl combine crumbs, nuts, sugar and butter; press mixture evenly and firmly against bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate, building up around rim. Freeze. To fill: Spoon ice cream into shell; spread to edge and level top. Freeze. Mix lemon juice with preserves; spread over ice cream. Freeze. To prepare Topping: In a 1-quart saucepan heat marshmallows and preserves over very low heat, stirring constantly, until smooth. In a small mixing bowl beat eggs until frothy; gradually add sugar and beat until stiff peaks form. Fold in marshmallow mixture. Mound on top pie sealing to crust. Place pie on board. Bake in a preheated 450 degree oven 2-3 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve immediately.

+ CREAMY ICED COFFEE
¼ cup instant coffee powder
¼ cup sugar
2 cups hot water
4 scoops vanilla ice cream
4 cups milk
Sweetened whipped cream
Dissolve coffee powder and sugar in hot water; chill. In large mixing bowl beat ice cream while gradually adding coffee mixture. Add milk. Pour into glasses and top with a dollop of whipped cream. Yield: Approx. 7 cups.

Trailburgers
Have A Flair
Of Their Own

Looking for something new in "burger fixings"? Versatile dried beef which comes in glass jars or chipped beef which comes in sealed packages gives an unusually good one.

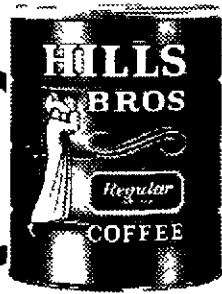

This chopped meat is mixed with cottage cheese, flecked with pimiento, held together with mayonnaise and seasoned with sweet pickles and caraway seed. Broiled on bun halves, it's a tempting hot sandwich for breezy days.

Dried beef in jars can be kept on the convenience food shelf, says Reba Staggs, home economist at the National Live Stock and Meat Board. Packaged, chipped beef is held in the refrigerator.

Trailburgers
2 jars (2½ ounces each) dried beef
1 cup cottage cheese
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
½ cup coarsely chopped sweet pickles
¼ cup coarsely chopped celery
½ teaspoon caraway seed
4 hamburger buns
Chop dried beef finely. Combine meat, cottage cheese, pimiento, mayonnaise, pickles, celery and caraway seed. Spread meat mixture on bun halves. Place on rack in broiler pan. Set regulator for broiling. Place in broiler so that meat is 3 to 5 inches from heat. Broil 3 to 5 minutes. 8 servings.

For apple pie in the French manner, blend ½ cup confectioners sugar with ¼ teaspoon vanilla and enough evaporated milk (about 1 tablespoon) to make a spreadable icing, then drizzle over the baked pie while it is still warm. To glaze apple or other fruit pies before baking, brush the top crust with evaporated milk and sprinkle with sugar.

Touch of Mace Creates Real Dessert Sensation

FOAMY CUSTARD DELIGHT

Lighthearted shortcake and out-of-this-world parfaits become real show-stoppers with plump fresh strawberries and a unique, almost-instant custard.

When knighthood was in flower, "mace" was the name of an ugly weapon with long, sharp spikes. But when nutmeg is in flower, mace is your secret weapon in the kitchen. And it doesn't have long, sharp spikes. It's the lacy red membrane that surrounds the nutmeg seed, and it tastes like nutmeg only more so.

It's mace that makes the flavor of Foamy Custard something really special. Of course Foamy Custard is pretty sensational any way you look at it. It's quick and easy and loads of fun. It saves you all the fuss and bother of stirred custard.

Foamy Custard looks frivolous, but it's as wholesome as a glass of fresh milk. That's because it's made with fresh milk and real whipping cream.

If mace is the flavor secret of Foamy Custard, what's the secret of its rich foamy texture? Beaten egg whites and whipped cream folded into the soft custard mixture.

Be the first in your block, women's club, church guild or sewing circle to discover Foamy Custard. Here's how to make it.

FOAMY CUSTARD STRAWBERRY PARFAITS

Foamy Custard:
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons regular all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon mace
1 1/2 cups milk
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg whites
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup whipping cream, whipped
Fresh sliced strawberries
In 2-quart saucepan combine sugar, flour, salt and mace. Gradually stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook 2 additional minutes. Blend a small amount of hot mixture into egg yolks; return all to pan. Cook 1 minute; stir in vanilla. Cover and cool thoroughly. In a small mixing bowl beat egg whites until soft peaks form; beat in sugar. Fold whites into milk mixture; then fold in whipped cream. Chill until serving. To prepare parfaits: Spoon about 1/3 cup custard into each parfait glass; top with strawberries. Repeat with custard and strawberries. Makes 6 servings.

Note: Foamy Custard is excellent with Strawberry Shortcake.

FOAMY CUSTARD STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

Shortcake:
2 cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
1/4 cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
3/4 cup milk
In a bowl sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add milk all at once; stir until dough clings together. Turn dough onto lightly floured surface; knead gently about 10 times. Pat or roll dough about 1/2-inch thick. Cut out eight biscuits from dough with floured 2 3/4-inch diameter round cutter. Place on baking sheet; brush tops with milk. Bake at 450 degrees for 10-15 minutes. To serve: Split shortcake; spoon about 1/4 cup Foamy Custard and sweetened sliced strawberries over bottom half. Replace shortcake top and repeat with 1/4 cup Foamy Custard and strawberries.

Three Killed on Rain-Slick Turnpike

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP) — An auto ran off the rain-slick Pennsylvania Turnpike and crashed down a 20-foot embankment into a clump of trees Tuesday, killing three persons. A fourth was critically injured.

driven by William A. Scofield, 54, of Elizabeth, N.J., was headed west and was about six miles east of Somerset when the accident occurred.

Killed were Scofield, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Emma C.

Fritz, 86, who lived with him, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Edna E. Lehman, 50, of Rt. 1, Leetonia, Ohio.

Scofield's wife, Anna F., 51, was in critical condition at Somerset Community Hospital.

Demonstrators Keep Teachers Out of School

NEW YORK (AP) — About 110 teachers refused to go to their classrooms in a mostly Negro junior high school in Brooklyn Tuesday, as adult Negro demonstrators again prevented five white teachers from entering the building.

More than 200 policemen stood by, but made no move to escort the teachers into J.H.S. 271—part of an eight-school experimental project intended to demonstrate how neighborhood control will improve schools and reduce racial tensions.

Police said the citywide Board of Education first asked officers to escort the five teachers into J.H.S. 271, past 30 to 40 Negroes who were blocking the entrances, but then withdrew the request because "negotiations" were under way. The Negro demonstrators included some parents and some representatives of the Congress of Racial Equality.

Albert Shanker, president of the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers, accused Mayor John V. Lindsay, who wants the school system decentralized, of refusing to give the signal to police.

The 110 teachers who refused to work stood outside the school, along with the police and about 200 spectators and newsmen.

The policemen herded some pupils into the school, but only about 300 to 400 of the 2,000 pupils were reported inside the building.

An assistant principal told newsmen that most of the pupils were in the auditorium, and that no teaching was going on.

The dispute is the latest skirmish in a fight over decentralization of the 1.1-million-pupil city school system, largest in the nation. The Ford Foundation has helped finance three experimental projects—the one in Brooklyn, one in Harlem, and one on Manhattan's Lower East Side.

At stake is over $100 million in extra state school aid, which the city would get by breaking up its school system into about 15 autonomous or semiautonomous districts.

The teachers barred from J.H.S. 271 were among 19 teachers and administrators—including a Negro and a Puerto Rican—fired by the local board in charge of the Brooklyn project. The board said the 19 had tried to sabotage the experiment, but declined to be more specific.

The firings were ruled illegal by the citywide board, which opposes rapid decentralization. Lindsay agreed that under present law the firings are illegal, but criticized the citywide board for dragging its feet on decentralization.

Shanker accused Lindsay of fomenting the Brooklyn dispute in an effort to win passage of decentralization legislation, hung up in a confused state legislature, which is trying to end a hectic 5½-month session in Albany.

Rotary Observes Annual Crippled Children's Day

HEAR PHYSICAL THERAPIST'S REPORT

Warren Rotary Club, supporter of Warren County Crippled Children's Committee for many years, heard progress report from Andrew Yurick. Participating in the program Monday noon were: From left, seated: Mrs. Albert Chase and son Timothy, and Andrew Yurick.

Standing: Mrs. Mary Dickerson, R.N., Crippled Children's nurse; Miss Mary Craft, president Warren Co. Crippled Children's Committee; and William Lutz, chairman Warren Rotary Club Crippled Children committee. (Photo by Hoff)

Warren Rotary Club observed their annual Warren County Crippled Children's day at their Monday noon meeting.

A special tribute was paid by president Henry Powell to Ralph R. Strauser, member of Warren Rotary Club who was a victim of the tragic fatal explosion at the Warren Tank Car Company Friday.

Participating in the Crippled Children's program were Miss Mary Craft, president Warren County Crippled Children's Committee; Physical Therapist Andrew Yurick, Mrs. Mary Dickerson R.N., the committee's nurse; William Lutz, chairman Warren Rotary Club Crippled Children's committee; and nine-year-old Timothy Chase and his mother, Mrs. Albert Chase.

The program was presented by William E. Lutz. In introducing those taking part in the program, Lutz recalled the founders of the Warren County Crippled Children's Committee, specially mentioning Rotarians Clare J. Cray and the late Horace Cray, Fred Steber and others.

Miss Craft introduced Andrew Yurick, who discussed the work accomplished by the Warren County Crippled Children's Committee, made possible through public support.

Yurick briefly outlined the remarkable new techniques for both children and adults who have suffered brain damage, developed in Philadelphia in the Institute for Human Potential.

In illustration he introduced Timothy Chase, a victim of cerebral palsy, who in a few months has been brought to a point where he is able to walk with walking bars, and will be able to walk unassisted within another twelve months. Timothy has undergone the creeping-and-crawling exercises, and "patterning" given daily by eight to nine volunteer mothers. This program gradually restores bodily functions by activating undamaged areas of the brain cell structure. When Timothy's program was begun he was completely immobile. He was unable to talk. "Timothy was very smart," Yurick recounts, "although he could not move about and could not communicate he fully comprehended people and things in his environment." Now, after a few months of rehabilitation treatment, Timothy is becoming mobile, and has developed a limited but growing vocabulary.

Yurick reports experience so far indicates the program has no bounds. He mentioned that in a great percentage of children who have problems with internal rotation of the feet, and other similar difficulties, never crept or crawled as babies in the way most children do. A part of the treatment is to carry them through this process to give the proper cross-pattern with functions of arms, legs, eyes and ears. The rehabilitation process involves all five senses: sight, hearing, taste, smell, feeling. Many children with ambulation problems are found to be right-handed and left-eyed -- or left footed. This can often be corrected by the crawling and creeping, and patterning.

The program of the Warren County Crippled Children's Committee has become widely known, says Yurick, because a part of the work has been done with children at the Warren State Hospital, and this has carried the story throughout the Commonwealth. The U.S. Steel workers have requested an institute, and it is expected to visit centers to make evaluations. Case histories of rehabilitation of adults who were injured in automobile accidents, or suffered brain damage in other ways, were outlined, showing the almost miraculous results of the patterning program. Warren Area High School senior guests of Warren Rotary Club were Richard Brewster, James Osborne and Craig White.

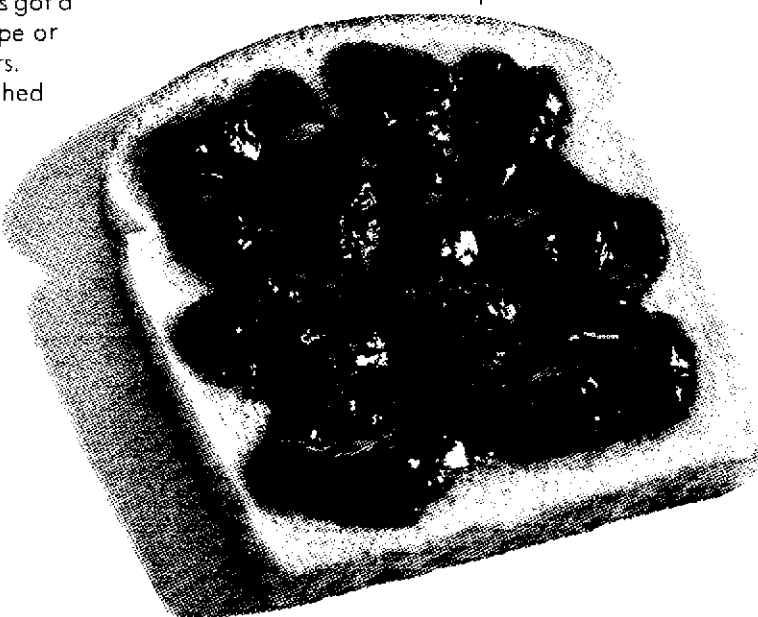

A guest of Warren County Commissioner Dr. David Rice was William Linberger, of Greenville, Tennessee, one of the group of students from Tennessee visiting our local schools. Another guest was Joseph Vote, member of Emporium Rotary Club, John Rayfield, of Newport News, Va., of Newport News Shipbuilding Corporation, was also a guest. He is here for the installation of the turbines at the Kinzua Dam in connection with the electric generating complex. Rayfield says there are no larger turbines anywhere in the world today.

Ed Johnson and J. F. McAmble reported final figures on last Friday's second annual Warren Rotary Radio Day over WNAE-WRRN-FM. One hundred and sixty seven clients took 325 radio advertising spots, which totaled $1,512.50. Rotary's 60 percent share of the amount is $907.50. Northern Allegheny Broadcasting Company's share is $605.00. There were donations amounting to $23, which brought the total for Rotary benevolence fund to $930.50.

Collins Breaks Eagle Two Mile Record

Ike Bumps Eagles in Final Dual Meet of Season 78-72

By DAN PRATZ
YOUNGVILLE — The Eisenhower Knights edged past the Youngsville Eagles in a real cliff-hanger here yesterday 78-72. The decisive points for the Knights came in the final event on the cinders as the Blue and Gold mile relay team came in victorious on an all out effort by anchor man Dick "Flash" Hale. The victory in the relay tied the score at 66-66 all giving the Knights enough points to add to their pole vault sweep and second spot in the triple jump to win the meet. The victory clinches the mythical "Warren County Class B Championship" for the Knights and also moves them ahead in the eleven year series between Youngsville and Eisenhower. The Knights now hold a 6-win 5-loss record while the Eagles' eleven year reading stands at 5-wins 6-losses.

Eisenhower's Martin Hoffner was the sole triple winner in the meet as he made his bid for the Knights in field competition. Hoffner, only a junior, captured first in the high jump, discus, and javelin. A throw of 160-foot 8-inches was tops in the javelin while his discus of 122-foot 4 1/2-inches for first and leaped 5-foot 8-inches, best in the high jump. His winning spear throw was his best ever.

Two miler Max Collins finally reached the goal he set for himself earlier this season as he shattered the old two mile record at Youngsville. The dedicated athlete broke the string in 10:38 topping the old mark of 10:40.2 held by Terry Caldwell since 1966.

The Knights once more proved their strength in the field events as the Blue and Gold swept the shot put and pole vault competition. Harry Wilkins was tops in the shot for the Knights heaving the metal ball 41-feet 11 1/2-inches. Gary Olson captured second place for the Ike and Tim Walker placed third.

Ike's pole vaulter, Gary Dalrymple, was tops in his event reaching a new height for himself in competition of 12-feet

6-inches. The star vaulter just missed 12-foot 9-inches on his final jump as his chest brushed the cross bar as he fell on the other side. Jamie Nesmith captured second in the pole vault for the Knights and Jim Skinner took third making it a clean sweep for Ike.

Both the high and low hurdles were dominated by the Knights as Dave Burnett clocked a 17.25 in the highs and a 21.9 in the lows to take top honors. An outstanding performance by Ike hurdler Craig Pierson was exhibited as he hit his best-ever and placed second in the lows.

Jim Pearson captured the mile for the Eagles on a time of 5:04. Pearson hit his best-ever with Knights Dave Allenson and Charlie Brown hot on his tail. Allenson and Brown finished second and third respectively.

The Eagles captured first in two field events as Conrad Danielson leaped 18-foot 3/4-inches in the long jump and Marty Yucha triumphed in the triple jump with a distance of 39-feet 6 1/2-inches.

Gary Wood was a double winner for the Eagles taking first in the 100 yard dash and the 440. A time of 10.5 was all the Red and White sprinter needed in the 100 and his time in the 440 stood at 52.8. Wood was edged by Dell Host in the 220 yard dash as Host clocked a 24.0 beating Wood by a step to collect his first victory of the season.

Several best-ers were hit in the tough competitions by both squads. The Eagles ran their best time in the two-mile relay since the Invitational clocking an 8:41.1 and the Knights hit their best dual meet time in the mile relay with a mark of 3:41.2.

Bob Long, unable to pole vault because of a freak accident which broke both the vaulter's poles, clocked his best ever in the 880 yd. run to win the event in 2:04.8.

Tabulating the results we find the Knights with 8 firsts, 10 seconds, and 8 thirds while Youngsville captured 10 firsts, 5 seconds and 7 thirds.

The next meet for both squads will be this Saturday as they compete in the one "that really counts", the District 10 track meet. The meet, to be held at Youngsville, will decide who will represent our district in Class A and B competition at State. Action is to get underway early in the morning with time trials starting at 9:30.

Ethan Allen Retires As Yale Coach

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Ethan Allen, baseball coach at Yale University for the past 23 years, will retire following Wednesday's game against Harvard. No successor has been named.

Allen, a native of Cincinnati, Ohio, will be 65 years old Jan. 1, 1969.

After ending his active career in 1938, Allen joined the National League's public relations bureau.

Buffalo Plans $50,000,000 Stadium

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Buffalo's hopes of landing a major league baseball team were bolstered Tuesday as Gov. Nelson Rockefeller signed a bill designed to foster construction of a $50-million stadium.

The Erie County government has been contemplating erection of a 50,000-seat domed stadium in Buffalo as a lure to the National League, which plans to expand from 10 to 12 teams.

The bill would authorize the county to finance the stadium by issuing bonds with a 40-year life, relaxing the present 30-year limitation, and to enter into long-term leases with prospective users of the stadium.

Red Sox Take Game, 5-4

BOSTON (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski raced home on a throwing error by catcher Paul Casanova in the 10th inning Tuesday night, giving the Boston Red Sox a 5-4 victory over the Washington Senators.

Joe Foy opened the 10th with a triple to right center field off Dennis Higgins. The Senators' reliever then walked Yastrzemski and Reggie Smith intentionally, filling the bases with none out.

Ken Harrelson grounded to shortstop Ron Hansen, whose throw to the plate forced Foy, but Casanova's peg to first sailed into right field, enabling Yastrzemski to score the winning run.

Frank Howard's 10th and 11th home runs of the season sparked the Senators to a 4-0 lead, but Harrelson and Yastrzemski sparked Boston rallies in the sixth and seventh that knotted the game 4-4.

Howard, who had homered in his last two at-bats Sunday, made it three in a row when he unloaded a two-run blast into the left field screen in the first inning after Del Unser's leadoff double.

The 6-foot-7 giant missed his chance for a record-tying fourth straight homer when he grounded into a force-out in the third, but he came back with a high shot into the centerfield bleachers in the sixth.

Sox Win, 7-6, Sixth Win in Eight Games

CHICAGO (AP) — Duane Josephson's home run with two out in the seventh inning gave Chicago a 7-6 victory over the California Angels Tuesday night after the White Sox had blown a five-run lead.

The victory was the sixth in eight games for the White Sox, who meet the Angels again Wednesday night in the first of nine games they will play in Milwaukee this year.

Josephson's first homer of the season came off reliever Minnie Rojas after the Angels had battled their way into a 6-6 tie with the help of seventh inning homers by Chuck Hinton and pinch hitter Roger Repoz.

Sox starter Gary Peters slammed a triple and a double, drove in two runs and scored two more.

With two out in the seventh, Hinton sent Peters to the showers with his second homer of the year and Repoz belted his ninth on the first pitch from reliever Bob Locker.

A walk and a single by Rodgers drove Locker from the mound and Paul Schaal scored the tying run when one of Wilbur Wood's knucklers got away from catcher Josephson.

Fuller Implies Dancer's Image Will Enter Preakness Saturday

BALTIMORE (AP) — Peter Fuller, a former amateur boxer and fight manager, threw a couple of oral jabs Tuesday that indicated strongly his Dancer's Image will run in the Preakness Saturday at Pimlico.

"I can't say anything in view of the hearings in Kentucky, but we're training the horse and I can assure you we are not shadow boxing," Fuller said after watching Dancer's Image work three-eighths of a mile in 36 2-5 seconds and gallop out the half in 53 2-5.

After Dancer's Image had been disqualified from first and placed last in the Kentucky Derby, when tests disclosed a trace of an anti-inflammatory drug in the colt's system, Fuller said he would not enter the Preakness if his trainer, Lou Cavalaris, was suspended by the Kentucky Stewards.

However, Cavalaris has said he wants Dancer's Image to run in the second jewel of the Triple Crown no matter what his status as a trainer, and Fuller apparently has had second thoughts on the matter.

The Boston sportsman also said Tuesday he has made luncheon and hotel reservations for almost 100 friends for the Preakness.

He said he has made no plans to bring in another of his trainers to saddle Dancer's Image if Cavalaris is suspended. But there have been reports that Odie Clelland, who trains Fuller's horses at Suffolk Downs, would be on hand as a stand-in.

Cavalaris also was on hand for Tuesday's workout and said "just what I ordered. No complaints at all, just perfect."

Fuller and Cavalaris were in Kentucky for the stewards' hearing Monday and were scheduled to be in Louisville again Wednesday. The hearing continued Tuesday without them.

Meanwhile, four other hopefuls of the probable Preakness field of 12 also worked out. Calumet Farm's Forward Pass, made the Derby winner after Dancer's Image was disqualified, went an easy six furlongs in 1:13 2-5.

"I was well satisfied," said trainer Henry Forrest. "He handled the track right well. That will be all until the big race except for the daily gallops and perhaps a blowout Friday."

Al Lippe's Francie's Hat, third across the Derby Finish line, went seven furlongs in 1:28 2-5, causing trainer Jimmy Conway to remark:

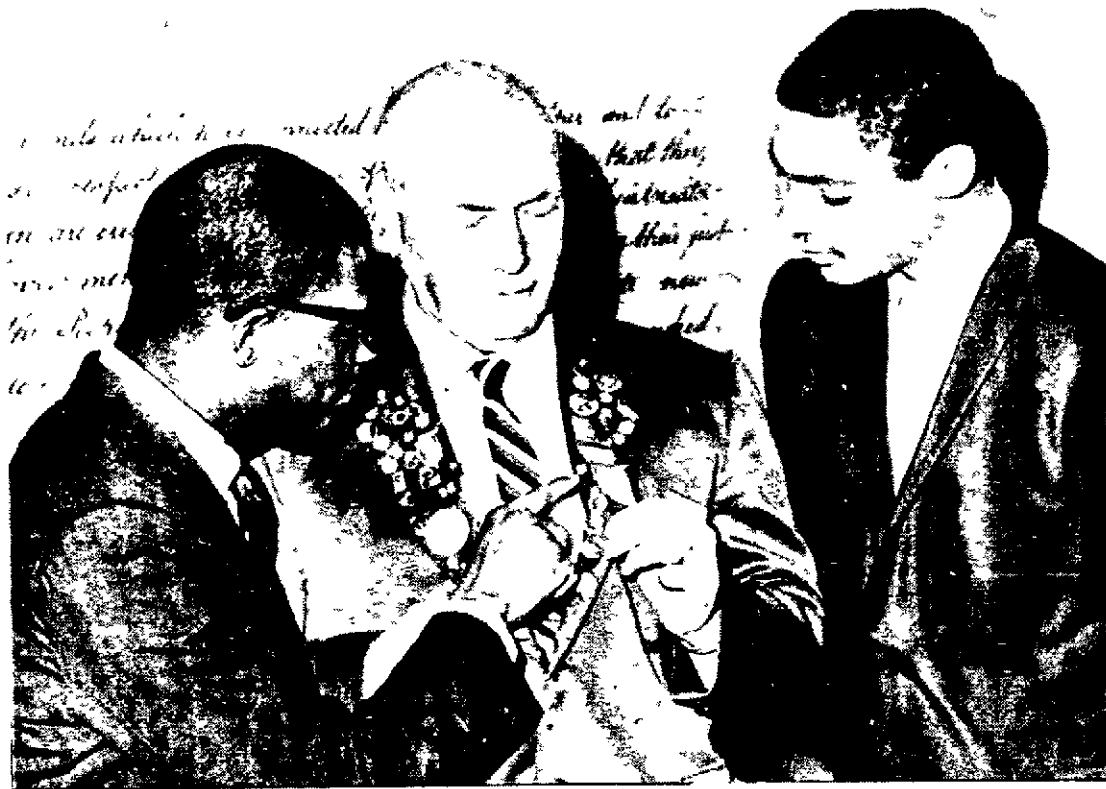

"He looks even better than he did in the Derby. He looked like he handled the track real well. Ernie Fires again will ride. He seems to do a better job riding the colt each time he is up. Yes, I feel right good over our prospects Saturday."

The other two working out were Poleax and Sir Beau, Poleax, owned by W. R. "Fritz" Hawn, went one mile in 1:40 3-5, and Richard DuFour's and Joseph Richards' Sir Beau went seven furlongs in 1:27 1-5.

Other probable starters are Charles Englehard's Jig Time, Mrs. Mildred Beall's Martins Jig, Gene Goff's No-double, Robert J. Kleberg's Out Of The Way, Hubert Phipps' Ringmaster, John Nero's Wood-Pro and James L. Skinner's Yankee Lad.

If all 12 start, the 93rd running of the 1 3-16-mile Preakness would be worth a gross purse of $199,200, making it the richest Triple Crown race in history. The current classic purse record is $194,000 for the 1967 Preakness.

All of the probabilities are at Pimlico except Out Of The Way and Wood-Pro, due Wednesday, and Martins Jig and Ringmaster, due Friday.

THE MAN WITH THE MEDALS

Braves Whip Phils 3-1, Aaron now 12th in RBI's

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rookie Ron Reed pitched a five-hitter for his fourth straight victory as the Atlanta Braves defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 3-1 Tuesday night with the help of a two-run homer by Hank Aaron.

Reed, a former pro basketball player with the Detroit Pistons, struck out five and walked none in his fourth start and second complete game of the season.

The Braves scored a run off Philadelphia starter Larry Jackson in the second inning on a single by Felipe Alou, an infield out and Felix Millan's single.

In the fifth, Aaron followed a walk to Mike Lum with his ninth home run of the season, a line drive into the upper left field seats. It was the 490th homer for Aaron, who needs three to tie Lou Gehrig for eighth place on the all-time home run list.

The two RBI boosted the Braves' right fielder into 12th place, ahead of Tris Speaker, on the all-time RBI list with 1,532. Aaron also doubled in the first inning and the two hits increased his lifetime total to 2,654, ahead of Ted Williams and Lafayette N. Cross for 51st place on the all-time hit list.

The Phillies' only run off Reed came in the fifth on consecutive singles by Bill White, Rich Allen and John Briggs. Roberto Pena then hit into a double play, ending the rally.

Nino to Fight In Toronto, Can.

TORONTO (AP) — Middleweight champion Nino Benvenuti of Italy said he will engage in a nontitle fight in Toronto to the week of June 21-27.

The opponent will come from a list of three: Ferd Hernandez, of Sidney, Neb., Tom Bogs of Denmark and Fre Little of Las Vegas, Nev.

Fernandez is ranked third among the middleweight contenders by the World Boxing Association. Little is the WBA's No. 1 junior middleweight contender. Bogs is unranked by the WBA but is listed as the No. 8 middleweight contender by Ring Magazine.

Derby Hearing Goes On and On

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Churchill Downs' stewards indicated Tuesday their hearing in the Kentucky Derby disqualification of Dancer's Image might continue into Wednesday and perhaps longer.

They also said a prime concern was to try to have the colt eligible to race again by the Thursday morning entry time for the Preakness, the second jewel in the Triple Crown.

Under racing rules, any horse such as Dancer's Image who is found to have raced with illegal medication in his system becomes ineligible until a stewards' hearing is over.

Kenneth Smith, the chemist who found phenylbutazone in the colt's post-Derby urine specimen, had been before the stewards for six hours when the first break came in security surrounding the hearing.

It was Smith's report that resulted in disqualification of Dancer's Image and the declaration of Forward Pass, runner-up in the $125,000-added classic, as the 1968 winner.

Kelso Sturgeon, public relations director for Churchill Downs, was authorized to announce that at least four witnesses were likely to follow Smith in the closed hearing chamber.

U.S. Auto Club Assesses Granatelli Suit

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The U.S. Auto Club said Tuesday it spent more than $84,000 to defend its new turbine engine rules in a federal court suit filed by turbocar owner Andy Granatelli.

USAC won the suit April 6. The U.S. Auto Club said Tuesday it spent more than $84,000 to defend its new turbine engine rules in a federal court suit filed by turbocar owner Andy Granatelli.

Meanwhile, the fifth crash occurred in practice for the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Bruce Walkup of Downey, Calif., hit the wall with his turbocharged Offenhauser. He was unhurt but the right front and rear of his car were damaged.

Thomas W. Binford, USAC president, said the racing group's executive committee reviewed the fees incurred in the federal court suit and decided they were reasonable.

The executive committee, he said, will recommend to the full USAC board an immediate membership assessment and probably a dues increase to help defray cost of the month-long trial at Indianapolis.

The STP turbocar came within seven miles of winning the 500 last year. After complaints by other drivers and car owners that the conventional piston-engine cars were not competitive with the turbine, USAC reduced the air intake size. The move sharply cut the power of the No. 40 turbocar.

By DAVE PIRILLO

If you were to add up six Warren errors, a four-hit output and eleven men left on the bases, it would then be easy to see how the Dragons dropped their fifth game of the season, a 7-5 affair, to the Jamestown Red Raiders.

It's been the same old bugaboo for coach Bob Kucher all season. His hitting department has come up short with an anemic .195 over all average, while things haven't been much better in the field with an average of better than five errors per contest.

The hardest hit by the effects has to be the hurlers. Chuck Loomis suffered his second straight loss without a triumph. He lasted 2 2-3 innings against the New Yorkers before giving way to Marc Salerno.

Craig Schaffnit picked up the win in hurling five complete frames. Don Schmonsky came called out of right field to relieve Schaffnit in the bottom of the sixth. Neither hurler looked that impressive, but they were enough to do the job. Schaffnit struck out just two, while yielding five free passes. Schmonsky in his stint fanned one and issued four walks.

Both hurlers proved they could use the lumber for the Green and Red. Schaffnit's double, (Jamestown's only extra base knock of the day), highlighted a four run rally in the third inning and earned him a couple of RBIs. Schmonsky's single in the top of the seventh drove in what proved to be the winning run.

Jerry Bancroft and Jim Mock kept Warren in the game with their timely hitting. Bancroft stroked a single and double in four trips. The single drove in the lead run in the first and the two-bagger kept a rally alive in the seventh. Mock's hit in the seventh brought a pair of runner's home.

Loomis took advantage of the run the Dragon's came up with in the first and had little difficulty in handcuffing the Raiders for the opening two frames. A couple of walks to open the third, coupled with a single loaded the bases in anticipation of Schaffnit's two-run producing double. Frank Basile added coal to the flame by delivering a base hit up the middle to score Schaffnit.

Yankees Lose Another As Indians Stay Hot

CLEVELAND (AP) — The red-hot Cleveland Indians helped by two errors by New York shortstop Gene Michael, pushed across two runs in the seventh inning and beat the Yankees 4-2 Tuesday night for their fifth straight victory and 11th in the last 12 games.

The Yankees led 2-1 on Andy Kosco's fifth-inning homer and relief pitcher Jim Bouton had hurled five scoreless innings when the Indians mounted their winning rally. Larry Brown beat out a hit to short and continued to second when Michael threw the ball into the Cleveland dugout. After Brown took third on Lee Maye's fly ball, Joe Verbanic relieved Bouton.

Jose Cardenal walked and Chico Salmon singled in the tying run and took second on a throw to third trying to get Cardenal. Max Alvis was purposely passed, loading the bases. Michael then bobbled Tony Horton's sharp double play grounder as the lead run scored.

The Indians added a run in the eighth.

Orioles Lose 7th in Row, Tigers Win 4-0 on Homers

DETROIT (AP) — Willie Horton drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Earl Wilson fired a four-hitter as the American League-leading Detroit Tigers handed Baltimore its seventh straight loss with a 4-0 victory over the Orioles Tuesday night.

Horton hit his seventh homer, a solo shot, off loser Dave McNally, 3-3, in the second and belted his eighth following a walk to Al Kaline in the sixth. The only other hit off McNally, who went the first six innings, was Ray Oyler's single in the third.

Wilson pitched his first shutout of the season in evening his record at 4-4.

The big right-hander gave up a leadoff triple to Dave May in the fifth but retired the Orioles in order to cut off the only serious Baltimore scoring threat.

Ryan Throws 4-Hitter, Mets Edge Reds, 3-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie Nolan Ryan hurled a four-hitter and set a club record of 14 strikeouts Tuesday night as the New York Mets edged Cincinnati 3-2 on a disputed two-run triple by Art Shamsky.

Ryan struck out five of the last six batters to nail his fourth victory in six decisions and took the National League strikeout lead with a season total of 58. His 14 strikeouts broke by two the Mets' record for a nine inning game set by Tom Seaver last year.

Bases-empty homers by Tony Perez and Lee May and singles by Perez and Pete Rose were the only hits off the 21-year-old right-hander.

The Mets scored all their runs in the third when Ryan beat out an infield single—the first hit of his career—and went to second on Bud Harrelson's single to right.

After Ken Boswell flied out, Shamsky sent a towering fly down the right-field line that Rose got his glove on at the fence before it fell for a three-base hit.

Cincinnati Manager Dave Bristol argued that the ball was foul, but first base umpire Mel Steiner, closest to the play, judged that Rose had been in fair territory when he touched it. Shamsky then scored on Ron Swoboda's single to left.

Mike Pappas, who lasted just four innings, was the loser. His record is 2-3.

Steelers Trade Away QB Nelsen For Pass Protection, High Draft Pick

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers traded away quarterback Bill Nelsen and his troublesome knees Tuesday in return for pass protection help and a high draft choice.

Nelsen, who has been sidelined by knee trouble for part of every season, since he became a starter in 1965, went to the Cleveland Browns with defensive back Jim Bradshaw in return for tackle Frank Parker, quarterback Dick Shiner and the draft pick.

Parker, a 6-foot-5, 270-pound veteran of seven years with the Browns, has also been troubled by injuries, but Steeler coach Bill Austin is hoping he has mended.

And Brown owner Art Modell said he's willing to take a chance on Nelsen.

"We know it's something of a gamble," said Modell, "but the team doctors of both clubs have conferred on his physical ability, and we have been assured Nelsen is in good shape."

"A change of scenery may do him a world of good."

Nelsen, 27, who lost his starting job to rookie Kent Nix last season, was hopeful, too.

"It may be the right move," he said, "I hope so. I'm elated about going to Cleveland, but I hate to leave Pittsburgh."

Shiner starred at the University of Maryland before serving as backup quarterback at Washington and Cleveland.

"When I was at Green Bay he was in one of the all-star games and I liked what I saw," said Austin. "If I had to play a game tomorrow, I'd play Kent Nix."

But over the long haul whoever can move the club will be the number one quarterback."

Nelsen's lifetime record in the NFL is 274 completions out of 591 passes for 4,440 yards and 27 touchdowns.

Bradshaw saw limited duty last season as a defensive back. During his six years with the Steelers he intercepted 11 passes for 238 yards and two touchdowns.

Steelers Trade Roommates

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bill Nelsen and Jim Bradshaw were roommates when the Pittsburgh Steelers went on the road. They played golf and basketball together. Bradshaw says the two have a lot in common. Nelsen says, "Jim and I are good friends."

Tuesday they were traded to the Cleveland Browns...together.

Miami Gets Super Bowl For Second Straight Year

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The 1969 Super Bowl football game between champions of the American and National football leagues was awarded Tuesday

John Carroll Wins Golf Title

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — John Carroll successfully defended its Presidents' Athletic Conference golf title Tuesday with a team total of 620 while Tom Plunkett of John Carroll captured medalist honors.

John Carroll finished 15 strokes in front of Washington & Jefferson, which carded a 635. Following were Adelbert 637, Allegheny 654, Case 659, Thiel 668 and Bethany 706.

The tourney was held at the par 36-72, 6,486-yard Meadville Country Club course.

by club owners to Miami for the second straight year.

The game will be played next Jan. 12, in the Orange Bowl, site of the last Super Bowl this past January.

Miami won out over New Orleans in a battle to stage the game, with 25 owners of the two leagues voting for Miami and New Orleans passing.

Football Commissioner Pete Rozelle said that during the closed meeting the owners apparently were impressed by the sellout in the Orange Bowl last January and the over-all cooperation from the City of Miami.

He said, however, that the owners did not indicate that Miami would be the permanent host of the Super Bowl.

The decision was somewhat of a surprise, since there had been speculation that New Orleans was the front-runner.

Hard Luck Dogs Robby

BALTIMORE (AP) — Outfielder Frank Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles, bothered with a recurrence of a tendonitis condition in his right shoulder, was given a cortisone shot.

The team physician said Robinson probably would be able to play when the Orioles resume action in Detroit Tuesday night. He recommended that Robinson prepare for games in the future by warming up slowly, increasing his throwing velocity gradually.

Robinson strained a tendon Sunday while trying to cut off a Cleveland run at the plate. It was his first start since April 20, following an attack of mumps.

Penguins Plan Knee Surgery

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Veteran centerman Earl Ingarfield and Ken Schinkel of the Pittsburgh Penguins will undergo surgery for torn knee cartilage, the National Hockey League club said Tuesday.

Goossen Goes to First To Strengthen Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Gil Hodges plans to give catcher Greg Goossen the same chance that Leo Durocher gave Hodges 20 years ago—a shot at the regular first base job.

It worked wonders for Hodges who took over for a slumping Preston Ward in 1948 when Roy Campanella joined the old Brooklyn Dodgers and remained on first base for 16 more years. Manager Hodges hopes Goossen can do the same for the New York Mets.

"Greg has been swinging the bat real good," said Hodges before Tuesday night's game with Cincinnati. "So we're going to use him at first for the next few days. He certainly has been adequate as a fielding first baseman."

Goossen has been platooning with Ed Kranepool at first base in recent days. However Hodges left him in Sunday against right-handed Joe Miekro and he got two hits. A delayed relay throw by Kranepool cost the Mets the first game.

At the beginning of the season, Goossen was on Cincinnati's minor league farm club at Indianapolis, on loan from the Mets. He probably would still be there if J. C. Martin hadn't been injured, causing an acute shortage of catchers at Shea Stadium.

Although Martin has been back on the active list for two weeks, he can't break into the lineup with Jerry Grote hitting .352.

Hodges, who sent Goossen to the Florida Instructional League last winter to begin a new career at first base, found himself with three catchers on his hands. The move that sent Goossen, hitting .344, to first base was obvious, especially with Kranepool batting .212 and with no runs batted in.

"In baseball you've got to be able to take advantage of a good break when it comes along," said Hodges. "The only one I can think of who got a chance to play like Goossen is myself."

Goossen has shortcomings as a catcher, especially in his throwing. The 6-foot-1, 205-pound Californian may be at the turning point of his baseball career.

Dave Stockton Defends Colonial Golf Title

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — On a cold, windy, damp day in 1967, an unknown Californian stood semipretentive on the 18th hole, staring at four feet of green.

The date was May 21 and the young man was Dave Stockton. The four feet separated his ball from the hole and the championship of the Colonial National Invitation golf tournament.

"I was so shook on the 18th hole I couldn't even see the fairways," Stockton admitted. But all was forgotten now—even the dramatic title bid by Ben Hogan—and Stockton said the first negative thoughts in four days of brilliant golf raced through his mind.

But he sank the putt, won the tournament—his first—after he had become somewhat of a fixture at 26, on the PGA tour.

"That one putt earned me $65,000," said Stockton, back now to defend his crown in the $25,000 national invitational here.

The tournament opens Thursday on the treacherous 7,000-yard, par 70 course where Hogan carved out five Colonial titles, perhaps none as important to him as the victory was to Stockton.

Victory brought Dave $23,000 as an immediate reward and opened up previously locked doors that led to some $45,000 in fringe benefits.

The latter included the $25,000 he and Al Geiberger won on the televised CBS golf clinic.

"I wouldn't have gotten in there if I hadn't won here," he said.

MAKE UPRIGHT SWING ON SHOTS FROM ROUGH

It is important that on shots from deep rough your clubhead contact the ball on a sharply descending path. Should the clubhead slide into the ball from the side, it will encounter too much grass and this will slow its progress immensely

To make the clubhead descend sharply, your backswing must also be upright. Lift the club from the ball much more abruptly than you would on a normal shot. Also, it helps to play the ball well back in your stance.

Finally, make sure you shift very little, if any, weight onto your right foot during your backswing. By keeping your weight to the left, you will almost force yourself to take the club back and up on a steep path.

West Chester Wins Golf Meet

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — West Chester State College dominated the annual Pennsylvania State College Conference golf tournament at Hershey Country Club.

The Rams of Coach Ed Cottrell, 14-1 for the season, breezed to the team title by 15 strokes over runner-up Clarion, and walked off with the first four medals.

It took a four-hole playoff to determine the individual winner. Three West Chester entries, Herb Shupard, Larry Moore and Bill Hoffman, were deadlocked after 18 holes with medal scores of 78.

Shupard, the only senior of the three, was eliminated on the third hole of the sudden death playoff and took the third-place award. On the fourth extra hole, Hoffman three-putted for a double bogey after Moore dropped in his second try for a bogey and the title.

Court Overrules Sloan On VFD Pension Funds

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The State Supreme Court ruled Tuesday pension funds of volunteer fire associations do not need to specify a minimum age for retirement.

The court overruled Auditor General Grace Sloan, who had held up pension payments to the Firemen's Relief Association of Washington, Pa.

Numerous volunteer fire associations in the Commonwealth receive funds from a two per cent tax on premiums collected by foreign fire insurance companies doing business in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Sloan had ruled the Washington pension fund was invalid because benefits were based solely on years of service. The Washington firemen were entitled to a pension after 20 years' service, regardless of age.

Funds also were withheld because Mrs. Sloan held the Act of 1895 taxing the insurance companies did not authorize use of the money for medical or death benefits.

The case came to the Supreme Court on Mrs. Sloan's appeal from Dauphin County Court.

In a 4-3 decision written by Justice Samuel J. Roberts, the court said the auditor general had unilaterally decided the only pension funds eligible under the 1895 act were those which did not provide medical and death payments and based benefits on a minimum age. Since the language in that statute does not limit the words "pension fund," Justice Roberts wrote that the auditor general has no power to amend that language by administrative order.

"In sum," said Roberts "it is one thing to say that the auditor general is charged with the duty of inspecting the financial records of the associations to which he disburses Commonwealth funds; but it is quite another thing to urge that an administrative body can amend a statute and then conclude a given municipality has not conformed to this new administratively created statutory language."

Mayor Proclaims May 20-26 'Salvation Army Week'

PROCLAMATION SIGNED

Mayor Donald E. Conaway, seated, signed a proclamation Tuesday designating the week of May 20-26 as "Salvation Army Week". In the proclamation the mayor urged all citizens to join him in honoring the Salvation Army and its representatives in Warren, praising "their compassionate and effective service" as "an esteemed contribution to the well-being of our community." Witnessing the mayor's signature are Clarence Bauer, standing left, chairman of the Salvation Army Advisory Board in Warren and Capt. Albert P. Carter. (Photo by Mansfield)

Milk Commission to Rule On Pitt Dealer's License

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Milk Control Commission said Tuesday it would decide within two weeks whether to deny a milk dealer's license to the United Dairy Farmers Cooperative Association of Pittsburgh.

In the meantime, the commission said the cooperative, which operates a chain of dairy stores in the Pittsburgh area, could continue to do business on a temporary permit it now holds.

The commission contends that the cooperative has been selling milk at prices lower than the legal minimum established for the Pittsburgh Milk Marketing Area.

Specifically, the commission has charged that rebates offered to customers by the cooperative actually resulted in the retail sale of milk at prices ranging from eight cents a half gallon to 15 cents a gallon below the legal minimums.

During a hearing on the charges Tuesday, Joseph Barker, a commission auditor, testified that an examination of the cooperative's books for a four-month period showed that the firm had overstated its total net income for dividend purposes by nearly $25,000.

Barker said the cooperative records showed a total net income of $25,722.35, while the correct total should have been $770.88.

Later, however, Barker said during cross-examination that the dairy chain's figures would be correct if a cash-basis rather than an accrual-basis accounting system had been used to compile the records.

Barker said he had used the accrual system because he believed the accrual method was "not the proper way to determine the amount available for dividends."

(The difference in the systems is that the cash-basis method includes as income only what has been received in cash and as expenses only those paid in cash, while the accrual method recognizes income when earned and expenses when incurred regardless of when cash is received or disbursed.)

Earnest Hayes of Rt. 1, Dawson, Fayette County, president of the United Dairy Farmers, the only witness to appear for the cooperative, briefly discussed the dairy chain's operation.

Following the hearing, Commissioner Joab K. Mahood said he would not rule on the matter until he had received and studied a transcript of the testimony.

Court Asked to Dismiss Suit Challenging State Sales Tax

HARRISBURG (AP) — Claiming the question was beyond the scope of judicial review, a state's attorney asked Commonwealth Court Tuesday to dismiss a suit challenging the enactment of Pennsylvania's 6 per cent sales tax.

"The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has consistently held that it was not within the purview of judicial jurisdiction to go behind the legislative record," Deputy Atty. Gen. Edward T. Baker argued before the six-man court.

"This court should not change that doctrine at this time," Baker maintained.

A suit challenging the constitutionality of the 6 per cent sales tax enacted by the 1967 General Assembly was filed with the court by Milton Shapp, defeated Democratic gubernatorial candidate of two years ago, and Mrs. Antonia Velasquez, a Philadelphia garment worker.

Shapp and Mrs. Velasquez contended that the bill increasing the sales levy from 5 per cent was invalid because five House members recorded in favor of the legislation were not physically present at the time the vote was taken last December.

"We have here a bill that has been duly signed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Governor of the Commonwealth," Baker argued.

"When a bill has been certified by the presiding officers of both the House and Senate, it is certified as authentic. It is our position that this is the only issue that may come before this court."

Shapp's attorney, M. Melvin Shralow of Philadelphia, countered, however, that it was incumbent upon the court to review the circumstances surrounding passage of the tax measure.

"We can prove that at least five persons were absent at the time the House passed this bill," Shralow declared.

"As long as the court turns its back on this type of action, the legislature will continue to do this type of thing," he continued.

Shralow urged the court to deny the state's petition to have the suit thrown out.

"We have alleged fraud and we are here asking the court to let us have our day in court,"

6 Priests Hospitalized When Bleachers Collapse

HARRISBURG (AP) — Eleven Catholic priests from the Harrisburg diocese were hospitalized Tuesday when temporary bleachers erected for picture-taking ceremonies in the Catholic Youth Center collapsed.

Some 200 priests had gathered in Harrisburg for a photograph marking the diocese's centennial anniversary.

The 11 injured clergymen were reported to be in satisfactory condition at Harrisburg and Holy Spirit hospitals.

A commercial photographer had stationed approximately 185 of the priests on the eight-tiered bleachers and was attempting to place the remaining 20 or so on the platform when the stand suddenly collapsed in the middle.

The priests in their customary black cassocks and white surplices were sprawled in all directions as wooden planks thudded onto the auditorium floor amid a chorus of anguished groans.

Holy Spirit Hospital identified those admitted as the Revs. Boleslaus Stankiewicz, 51, of Lanslaw, partially fractured left leg; Francis Mougelluzzi, 54, Lancaster, possible fracture of left shoulder and leg; Cletus Hauck, 61, Lancaster, possible fractured ankle; Joseph Smith, 57, Cornwall, possible back injury; Fred A. Farace, 39, Myers-town, possible fractured shoulder; and Andre Meluski, 37, Harrisburg, possible fractured right leg.

Taken to Harrisburg Hospital with leg injuries were the Revs. Raymond Dougherty, 51, Lancaster; Louis Dougherty, 49, Danville; Fabian Zator, 62, Shamokin; Leo Beierschmitt, 48, York; and George V. Lentocha, 45, Steelton.

The last row of the bleachers was approximately 15 feet from the floor.

"The stand just collapsed," he implored. "It is general public knowledge of what occurred in the House when this tax was passed. If the court doesn't hear the case, it will be the only one in the Commonwealth who doesn't know what went on that night."

To queries from the court whether the constitutional separation of powers might prevent a judicial review of the House's action, Shralow replied:

"The separation of power doesn't apply when a constitutional right has been violated." Shapp's suit also challenged the constitutionality of the sales tax act since its inception in 1956.

He took the position that the tax lacked uniformity as required by the state constitution because it had a greater economic impact on a family of low income than a family of high income.

Baker maintained that the same could be said of almost every tax in existence.

While the judges took the arguments under advisement, Shapp said in a statement from Philadelphia that he would pursue the issue regardless of their decision.

Describing the arguments before Commonwealth Court as just the first step in his fight to upset the tax, Shapp said:

"If necessary, I intend to take this case all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court."

Dropping Juniata Passenger Train Could Hamper State Development

HARRISBURG (AP) — A State Commerce Department official testified Tuesday that proposed abolition of a Penn Central passenger train between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh would "seriously hamper" development in six Central Pennsylvania counties.

"We...consider this region to have a great potential for economic growth and have invested considerable monies to substantiate this confidence," Lawrence L. Anesko, department regional representative for the Turnpike Economic Development District, told the Public Utility Commission (PUC).

The district is composed of Bedford, Blair, Fulton, Huntingdon and Somerset Counties. Anesko said he also spoke on behalf of Mifflin County.

The PUC is hearing testimony on the Penn Central's proposal to drop the Juniata passenger train. The railroad contends that poor patronage and loss of mail contracts contributed to a deficit of $210,000 last year. Penn Central says patrons could use other trains or competing highway and air services.

The Penn Central proposal also was criticized by Robert J. Heckel, executive director of the Turnpike District Planning and Development Commission. The Altoona-based organization covers Bedford, Blair, Cambria, Fulton, Huntingdon, and Somerset Counties.

"To eliminate one passenger train, just as the district is about to turn the corner from economic despair to economic progress, would be a regressive decision to say the least, and implies economic retardation," Heckel said.

Rep. Orville E. Share, R. Huntingdon, testified he "received letters from citizens in my district whose lives will be disrupted and inconvenienced" by discontinuance of the train. Meanwhile, a PUC spokesman said the commission received a protest letter against the railroad proposal from Alton G. Kloss, superintendent for the Western Pennsylvania School for Blind Children in Pittsburgh.

Poor People's Rally Set For Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A spokesman for the Poor Peoples March said Tuesday housing accommodations have been arranged in Pittsburgh for some 1,000 demonstrators who will arrive Wednesday.

Thomas McGarrity, coordinator of transportation and facilities, said the marchers will stay at college and church facilities and that the Hunt Armory, mentioned for possible housing, would be used only in an emergency.

A rally is scheduled for Wednesday night at the Civic Arena. McGarrity said it was not known if the demonstrators would stage a march in Pittsburgh.

Leading the marchers are the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, secretary of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference; Mrs. Coretta King, widow of the slain Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.; and celebrities Mahalia Jackson, Harry Belafonte and Marlon Brando.

The marchers will stay at Pitt, the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, Mount Mercy College, Holy Cross Episcopal Church in Homewood and Duquesne University.

TOP SUMMER FESTIVAL POSTERS AND ARTISTS

The students of St. Joseph Elementary School and other students, members of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, joined in a poster contest advertising the approaching annual St. Joseph Parish bazaar. Twenty-nine posters were submitted. With very few exceptions, they were so outstanding, excellently planned and artistically executed that the judges felt the entries as a whole to be superior to such work submitted in other years. It made their task that much more difficult. Pictured here are the three top posters finally chosen for color, form and eye-catching appeal. The artists are: Jim Retterer, 8th grade; Anne Lyons, 7th grade; and Richard Sharp, 8th grade - all students at St. Joseph School. Each one will receive a $5 cash award. The judges were Mrs. Peter A. Smith, Mrs. Carl Wolfe, Mrs. Darrell Harlan, Mrs. Arthur J. Honhart, Mrs. Edward J. Martin, Mrs. Mary Ellen Vizza. All twenty-nine posters will be placed at strategic spots in and around the Warren area, calling the public's attention to the Summer Festival dates of May 31, June 1-2. Many kinds of games, prizes and a variety of delicious foods have been planned for the enjoyment of every member of the family. It is to be held on the grounds at St. Joseph School. DEAR ANN LANDERS: I won't sign this letter because I am ashamed, but I hope you will help me anyway. I didn't go to a family reunion tonight because I can hardly see out of one eye. Yesterday my boyfriend hit me.

I am 17 and my boyfriend is 19. I really dig him the most and he is neat in lots of ways, but he has a bad temper. We got into a dumb argument over nothing at all and I jokingly said, "You are stupid!" Suddenly he hauled off and socked me. I must say he was awfully nice about it right after. He went and got me a washcloth and some ice.

He has hit me a couple times before, but this is the first time he has ever given me a black eye. If my folks knew about this they would make me stop seeing him and I would die of loneliness. Is there any way I can get him to control his temper? — BONNIE

DEAR BONNIE: Give Clyde the air . . . unless, of course, you enjoy shiners, loose teeth, and maybe a fractured jaw one of these days. A boy 19 who would treat a girl so shabbily is bad company. Throw him in the tank. + + +

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A neighbor of mine thinks it is perfectly O.K. to take short trips with a man to whom she is not married. She tells people she is doing his secretarial work, which is a joke. She cannot type or spell and he is a sales manager. When I asked her what kind of secretarial work is required, she says, "I keep his records."

The woman is married to a very nice man. He must be deaf, dumb and blind. Nobody can understand why he lets her get away with this.

Our children are 11 and 13 years of age — the same as the children of this traveling "secretary." They are approaching an age when morals are important. All four youngsters have always been good friends but I am beginning to think perhaps I should not allow the friendship to continue. I don't want to be mean, but a woman who behaves in such a shameless manner will undoubtedly influence her children's thinking and I don't want her to influence mine. May I hear from you on this? — AGAINST SIN

DEAR AGAINST: Sorry, Lady, but I don't buy your theory. The neighbor's children should not be penalized for the immoral behavior of their mother. It sounds to me as if they are going to have enough heartache without being shunned by their friends. A little compassion can go a long way in a situation such as this. Try it. + + +

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are childless but we are very fond of our nieces and nephews. One little girl in particular is an adorable child. Her mother, however, is a wee bit nutty. Something happened yesterday which has us deeply concerned. Your advice is wanted.

Juanita's birthday is coming up in two weeks. This morning we received a letter from Juanita's mother. It read: "Dear Fred and Marie: Please do not send Juanita a birthday gift this year. She has been a very naughty child and doesn't deserve a gift. She has been sassy to me all week and I feel she should be punished. Thank you very much. . . . Dorothy"

What should we do? — FRED AND MARIE

DEAR F & M: Write: "Dear Dorothy: Juanita's birthday gift will be on its way in a few days. What happens between you and her is not our business. Find some other means of punishing her. Sincerely, Fred and Marie." + + +

P-SGC OFFICERS INSTALLED

At the annual banquet of the Pre-School Guidance Group last week newly-elected officers were presented corsages by the retiring officers who served as the installation team. The affair was held at the Driftwood in Jamestown. Those who will serve for the coming year are (from left to right): Mrs. Frank Wilcox, secretary; Mrs. Lynn Williams, historian; Mrs. Carl Moore, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Bines, publicity. Seated in the same order are Mrs. James Sturdevant, president and Mrs. Willis Yeagle, vice president. At the close of the evening the floral centerpiece was awarded as the door prize to Mrs. David Berdine. The closing event for this season will be a steak fry on June 22nd for husbands and wives.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

All the members of our family are avid Scrabble players and finally we have hit on a system to turn over all the letter tiles at one swoop. This saves that tedious job of turning them over one at a time before starting a new game.

After a game is completed, we pick up the Scrabble board with the tiles still on it and carefully slide them, letter side up, into the Scrabble box.

Then we fold the board and lay it on the box on top of the tiles. Next, we turn the box and board upside down and slide the tiles onto the table from the board.

They are all turned over and ready for shuffling to start a new game! This has saved us so much time that I wanted to let other Scrabble players know about it.

Mrs. Jack Kelley
I can see your name isn't Kelley for nothing! Now, if you can tell me a quick way to turn dominoes over, I'd love that.
Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

I have a bedspread with ruffles on three sides with a quilted top. Recently I washed it but didn't have time to iron right then. So after it was dry, I placed it on the bed in the usual position.

Then when I had time to iron it, I put my adjustable ironing board up next to the bed on each side as I ironed the ruffles. Worked great as I had no wrinkles from having folded it.

LETTER OF THOUGHT

DEAR HELOISE: This past winter while I was confined to the house because of the bad weather, I stood looking out my window over the neighborhood and a real good thought came to my mind.

It was we all might possibly improve our neighborhoods if we would go to our neighbor's home and look out of her window at our house and see how we look from her view.

There are always things around our homes that need attending to that we don't notice. But from our neighbor's window they are an eye-sore.

I did this very thing and it sure sent me scurrying home to do a few pick-ups and repairs that I hadn't realized looked so bad until viewing them from her window.

Heloise, I think all our neighborhoods could be improved if everyone would heed to this thought.
R. S.

I think you are a good neighbor to share your thought with us.

No Nagging Backache Means a Good Night's Sleep

Nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upset, or everyday stress and strain. If this nagging backache, with restless, sleepless nights, is wearing you out, making you miserable and irritable, don't wait, try Doan's Pills — an analgesic, a pain reliever. Doan's pain-relieving action on nagging backache is often the answer. Get Doan's Pills — not a habit-forming drug but a well-known standard remedy used successfully by millions for over 70 years. See if they don't bring you the same welcome relief. For convenience, always buy Doan's large size.

DEAR HELOISE:

So many skirts that have a back pleat cannot be shortened without making the pleat too short and ruining the looks of the skirt.

My remedy is to rip the pleat loose where it is stitched on a slant, and just continue sewing the original back seam down to the bottom of the skirt. This eliminates the pleat completely. Cut pleat away, leaving same seam allowance as in skirt seam.

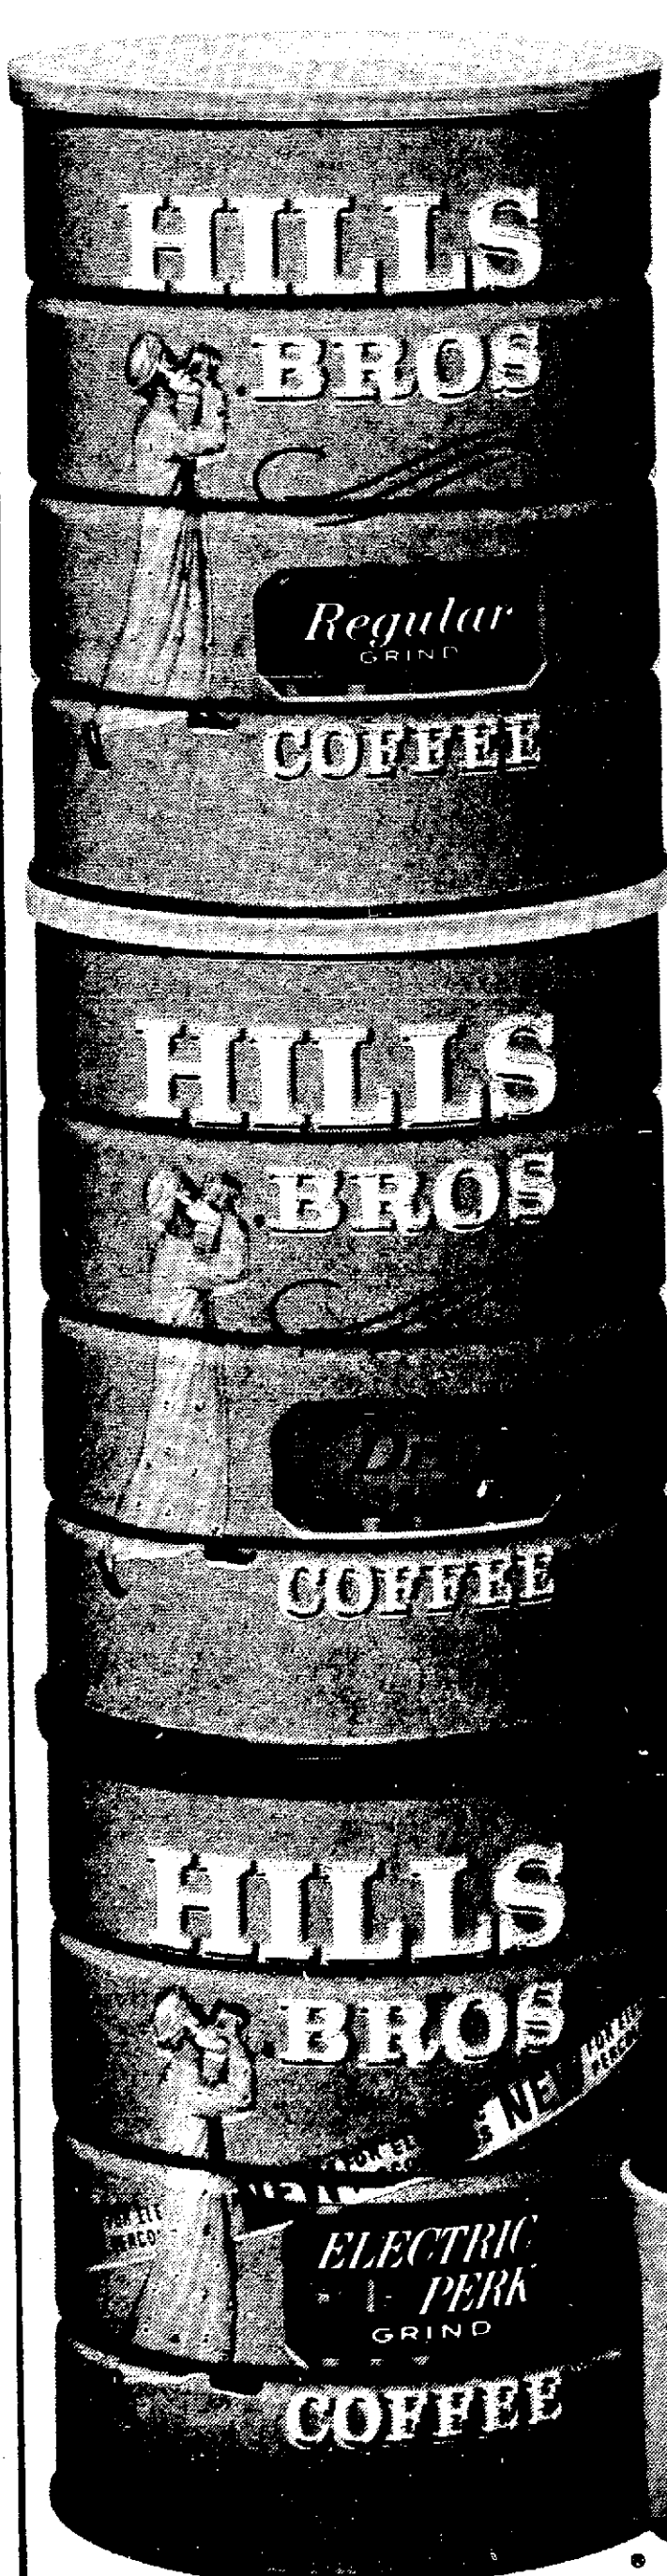

Simple and easy to do. And I like mine better without the pleat anyway.

Our coffee is more than 10% richer than other leading coffees!

Coffee is all we make. And we've found a way to make it better. A cup of coffee gets its flavor from what scientists call "available flavor solids." We have developed a new way of blending and roasting that gives our coffee more of these flavor solids than other leading coffees. As the chart shows—13% more, 14% more, even 15% more! You get a cup of coffee that has more flavor, more body, more strength. Even with cream and sugar the richer coffee flavor comes through. Enjoy some soon.

Opening lead Five of ♠
A thoughtful play at trick one by East provided a vital clue to a successful defensive campaign against South's four heart contract.

West opened the five of spades and East put in the jack. The normal procedure for third hand is to play high, however, East felt reasonably certain that his partner was not underleading the ace against a suit contract. His play of the jack could hardly cost therefore and it might uncover information vital to the defense.

South won the first trick with the queen of spades and led a heart to dummy's jack which East covered with the ace. It had been clear from the outset that dummy's club suit would provide a convenient parking place for some of declarer's losers. Now that the ace of trumps was outplayed it was essential for the defense to cash out whatever tricks were available to them and the purpose behind East's play to the first trick became apparent.

If the jack of spades had driven out the ace West would be marked with the queen and East can profitably continue the attack in that suit. When declarer turned up with the spade queen, however, the futility of a spade continuation became obvious and a diamond shift was clearly indicated.

In selecting the card to lead, East was careful to play the jack of diamonds. Declarer put up the king and West promptly cashed three tricks in the suit.

If East plays the king of spades at trick one to force the ace, his future course may be shrouded with uncertainty. If he succumbs to the temptation to return the jack of spades when he is in with the ace of hearts, declarer can run for cover with 10 tricks—four hearts, four clubs and two spades.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR WEDNESDAY, MAY 15, 1968

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Handle your schedule efficiently but give yourself time for investigation, observation of flaws in method. Some revisions may be necessary. Don't reject suggestions arbitrarily.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Make time count now. Whether handling large or small matters, don't be sidetracked by non-essentials. This is the time to advance a new idea which could benefit many.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Mild influences, it will be largely up to you whether the day turns out satisfactorily or otherwise. Use discretion in all matters. Don't rely on guesswork — be SURE.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Generous lunar influences continue. This should be a good day for superior work performance and other fruitful endeavors. Avoid tension and distractions, however.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Control emotions now. There will be tendencies to exaggerate, to lose temper. Be especially tactful in dealings with marriage or business partners.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Gains from past efforts indicated. Also, recognition for a long-forgotten favor bestowed. Creative pursuits highly favored.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Emphasize your reasoning faculties and keen discernment if faced with annoying situations or persons. You have a job to do; don't let outside interferences distract you.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—Continuing good Mars influences stimulate your talents and skills now, so make the best of a really good day. Wherever you can, share your knowledge — and your joys — with another.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Gauging situations correctly will depend upon many factors. Take time to study, review, hear all sides, and you will arrive at intelligent conclusions more quickly.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Avoid making decisions while under stress, and don't write anything you may later regret. Maintain your equanimity even if dealing with persons who annoy you.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Avoid tendencies to procrastinate. Handle all matters in the order of their importance. Under pressure, emphasize the Aquarian's innate ingenuity AND sense of humor.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—A favorable period for completing unfinished business, starting unusual projects and advancing new ideas. If opposed in the latter at first, try a new strategy.

YOU BORN TODAY are unusually adept mentally, have the ability to overcome difficulties and, in all situations, come through with flying colors. Your courage, fair-mindedness and artistic ability are outstanding. Because of their good judgment, perception and general understanding of people and situations, Taureans make excellent judges and arbitrators; could also succeed as surgeons or in any one of the performing arts.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

EYELID LESIONS

The eyelids cover a small area, but it is surprising how many blemishes and tumors develop there. The majority of these lesions are easy to see and feel but are tricky to treat because of their nearness to the delicate eye structures.

Warts and moles are removed easily by electrodesiccation. These common benign tumors are less troublesome than those located at the bottom of the foot and in the nail bed.

Raised yellow patches (xanthoma) occur on the upper lids near the bridge of the nose. These defects are irregular in shape; some are flat or slightly elevated. Xanthomas are associated with a disturbance of cholesterol metabolism. Their appearance is a warning to avoid cholesterol-rich foods such as eggs, cream, pork, bacon, butter, cheese, and fatty meats. Removal is simple with electrocoagulation, surgical excision, or applications of trichloroacetic acid.

Birthmarks usually represent blood vessel tumors. They vary in size; some may be so extensive the whole side of the face is covered as well as the lids. Treatment should be left to an expert. Carbon dioxide snow, radiation, or a combination of the two may be employed.

Eyelids are not immune to skin cancer and the condition is suspected whenever a lesion fails to heal. The malignancy begins as a small crusty blemish which bleeds when irritated. An ulcer crater may form within the growth and will spread unless treated. Early diagnosis followed by surgery or irradiation is curative. People of advanced age are most susceptible, but the lesions also develop in the young.

Tiny, cystic white dots on the lids and upper part of the cheek usually represent milia. Removal involves puncturing the dots and expressing the contents. Milia also respond to electrodesiccation. When numerous, several treatments may be needed.

TOMORROW: When Retirement Begins.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

CAN'T OPEN ONE EYELID

P.W. writes: I have difficulty in opening one eyelid. What might be causing this?

REPLY
Paralysis, weakness, or degeneration of the muscles of the eyelid on the involved side might be responsible. This condition requires examination by an ophthalmologist, who specializes in diseases of the eye. I assume your eyelids are not stuck together because of a discharge due to infection.

WATERING DRY SKIN

W.P. writes: Will drinking lots of water help very dry skin, hair, and nails?

REPLY
It helps, but the problem is more complex. Lack of skin oil, metabolism, the glandular system, too little vitamin A, and the humidity must be considered. If dryness is due to low metabolism, for example, drinking water will have no effect.

MONO SIMILAR TO LEUKEMIA

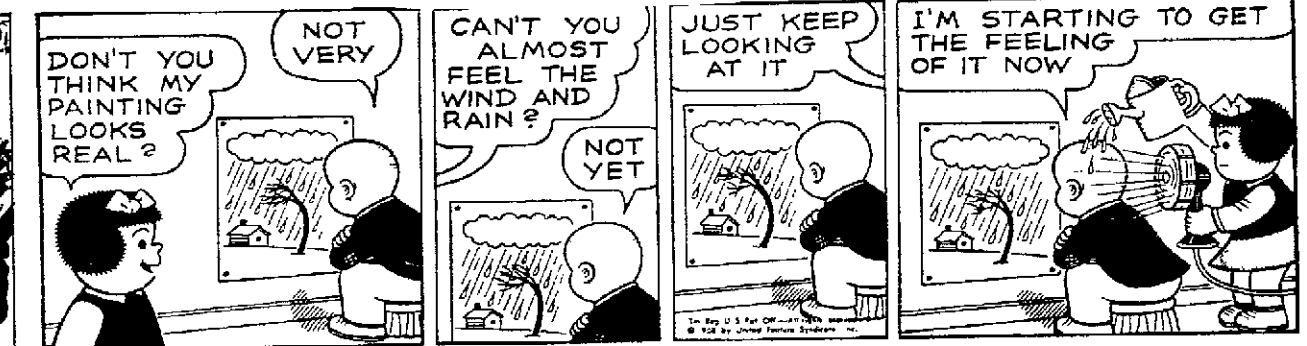

K. T. writes: Why is infectious mononucleosis sometimes misdiagnosed as leukemia?

REPLY
Early symptoms are somewhat similar and abnormal white blood cells are present in both conditions. Confusion occurs when leukemic cells are mistaken for those of infectious mononucleosis, and vice versa.

Texas Firm May Control J&L Steel

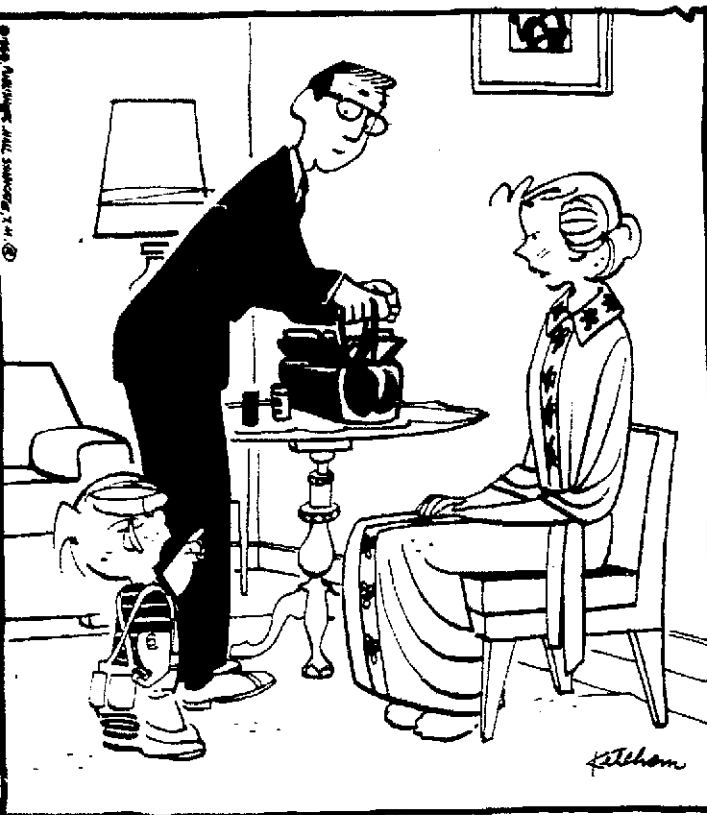

NEW YORK (AP) — Details will be made public Wednesday of a proposal that would give a big Texas holding company control of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.

Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc., said Tuesday it would publish its plan to purchase up to five million shares of the steelmaker's stock at $85 each and mail the offer to J&L stockholders.

The offer expires at 5 p.m. (EDT) June 6 unless extended to a date no later than June 17.

The proposal hinges on the wishes of the J&L board, which says it is in favor of the plan announced May 10.

During an 18 week period, J&L shares traded on the New York Stock Exchange was $87.87 high and $45.37 low, the week ended May 3.

STARTS TODAY AT LIBRARY THEATRE

Rosalind Russell, as the Mother Superior of a girls' school in "Where Angels Go-Trouble Follows" is appalled by the freedom Van Johnson, headmaster of a boys' school, has accorded his students. Stella Stevens, who stars in the new Columbia Pictures release in Eastman color, clearly is delighted. Mary Wickes, at right, co-stars in the comedy along with Binnie Barnes, Susan Saint James and Dorothy Sutton.

Quick 'n Easy Low Calorie Oven Dinner

At one time or another one or more members in a family are usually concerned with counting calories. No need for all the family to suffer, nor for the purchase of special diet foods. Just "decalorize" some of the favorite family dishes!

In this new and tasty version of scalloped potatoes there's a mingling of flavors so good that no one will realize it was designed for the dieting members. Thinly sliced potatoes are layered with colorful tomato slices, green onions and grated Parmesan cheese. Over all goes bouillon to add wonderful flavor and scarcely one extra calorie.

Low Calorie Potato-Tomato Scalloped accompanes a flavorful pot roast, cooked completely in the oven to avoid the use of calorie high fat in the browning. No one will recognize that this tasty oven dinner has had many of the calories removed.

Many people mistakenly believe potatoes are fattening. Actually this low cost versatile vegetable has fewer calories than many so-called diet foods, yet it's brimming with good nutrition. A 3 1/3 ounce cooked potato, while containing just 65 calories, provides 1/2 of the daily requirement of Vitamin C and other necessary and healthful vitamins and minerals.

See how good potatoes are, served in a stay-drim way. Top fluffy baked potatoes with creamy yogurt or herb seasoned cottage cheese. Or, sprinkle low calorie salad dressing, seasoned salt, or crushed dill over freshly cooked potatoes.

LOW CALORIE POTATO-TOMATO SCALLOP
4 cups sliced, pared potatoes
2 tomatoes, sliced
1/2 cup sliced green onions with tops
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 bouillon cubes
1/2 cup boiling water
Place a layer of potatoes in a 1 1/2 quart casserole. Cover with tomato slices. Sprinkle with sliced green onions, Parmesan cheese, salt and pepper. Repeat until all ingredients are used. Dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water. Pour over potatoes. Cover and bake in a 325-degree oven 1 hour. Remove cover and bake 15 minutes longer. Makes 6 servings. 1 serving—approximately 115 calories.

EASY OVEN POT ROAST
4 pounds chuck roast
Salt, pepper and seasoned salt
1 stalk celery and tops, finely chopped
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 bay leaf, crumbled
Season meat on both sides with salt, pepper and seasoned salt. Combine celery, onion and bay leaf. Sprinkle half of this mixture on large square of aluminum foil. Top with meat and remaining celery-onion mixture. Seal foil package leaving space for juices to collect. Place in shallow baking pan. Bake in a 325-degree oven 3 1/2 hours. Serve with Low Calorie Potato-Tomato Scalloped.

POTATO-TOMATO SCALLOP

Here's an easy way to serve an appetizing dish that looks rich but really isn't. Bouillon adds wonderful flavor to potato and tomato slices zipped up with green onions and Parmesan cheese.

HEARTY, NOURISHING, SATISFYING... THAT'S A LUNCH OF BEAN 'N GREEN SOUP and their favorite sandwiches. In a saucepan, combine 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed vegetable bean soup, 1 soup can water, and 1/2 cup chopped fresh spinach.

Simmer until spinach is tender—about 1 or 2 minutes, stirring now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

The Cranberry Punch Bowl

This simple, easy-to-make cranberry-apple punch pulls no punches when it comes to the perfect thirst-quenching cooler for a party. With the punch, try serving these Cranberry Bonbons made from cake squares split and filled with cranberry-orange relish and topped with a simple white icing.

CRANBERRY APPLE PUNCH
(Makes 12 to 14 punch cup servings)
Juice of 3 lemons
3 cups granulated sugar
Fresh mint leaves
2 cups water
4 cups Ocean Spray cranberry-apple drink
OR
3 cups cranberry juice and 1 cup apple juice
1 quart club soda, chilled
Ice cubes
Lemon slices

Combine lemon juice, sugar, 20 small mint leaves and water. Bring to a boil and simmer 5 minutes. Cool; then strain. Chill. Combine this mint syrup, cranberry-apple juice and club soda in punch bowl. Add ice cubes. Garnish with lemon slices and more mint leaves. Serve in chilled punch cups.

REAL THIRST QUENCHER

This marvelous spring or summertime punch is easily and quickly made and proves delicious at any time of day or evening.

TRYING YOUR HAND AT CHOW MEIN AND FRIED RICE? Open the meal with cups of East-West Onion Soup. In a saucepan, combine 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed onion soup, 1 cup water, 1/4 cup sliced water chestnuts, and 1 can (2 ounces) sliced mushrooms. Heat; stir now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

SASSY SUPPER IDEA... LEFTOVER ROAST SLICED FOR SANDWICHES, and a tureen of Spring Chicken Soup. In a saucepan, combine 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed chicken & stars soup, 1 soup can water, 1/2 cup cooked peas, and 1/4 teaspoon dried mint leaves, crushed. Heat; stir now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

HOT PEACH AMBROSIA: Brush canned cling peach halves with melted butter, sprinkle with sugar and lemon juice and a few gratings of lemon rind or a dash of mace. Broil under preheated broiler until piping hot. Place in serving dish and top with a scoop of vanilla ice cream and sprinkle with coconut.

"a bit more"
is what makes our white bread better!

We're talking of course about Jane Parker White Bread.

We use a bit more milk than we have to, to give you a richer loaf.

We never use milk substitutes.

We use a bit more shortening than we have to, to give you a softer loaf... the way you like it.

We use a bit more sugar than we have to, to give Jane Parker more flavor.

We do one more thing that hardly anybody does.

We date our Jane Parker White Bread.

It's the only absolute guarantee of freshness you have... unless you bake your own.

And speaking of guarantees,

we unconditionally guarantee you'll like it.

So, you see, we really do do "a bit more."

Since Jane Parker Bread is sold only at A&P, shouldn't A&P be your store?

If stamps raise prices; how come they're both 27c?

It's easy to find out if stamps raise prices or not. Compare the prices in our stores with the prices of stores that don't give stamps. You'll find some items will be priced higher some lower. But when you average out all the slight variations, you'll find that over-all, our prices and theirs are the same. You don't pay more at stores that give S&H Green Stamps. You just get more.

*Prices as of 5/13/68 at our stores and at leading supermarkets not offering stamps.

Whether your guests are coming for an afternoon of bridge or an evening committee meeting or shower, they're sure to enjoy the pleasing tart-sweet flavor of this make-ahead salad.

There's added beauty in this frozen plum loaf, since it can be made several days prior to entertaining. Convenient, canned purple plums are chopped, then folded into a velvety sour cream-custard base. Toasted pecans add crunchy texture and a surprise ingredient, crystallized ginger, imparts spicy sweetness. The plum mixture goes into a loaf pan to be placed in your freezer ready to await your guests.

You can enjoy sun-ripened canned purple plums the year 'round. Their delicately tart flavor combines well with other ingredients in salads, desserts and accompanying meats. As a finale for hot weather dining, serve canned purple plums, icy-cold, in frosted stemmed glasses.

Use flavorful plum syrup with a hint of your favorite herb or spice as a basting sauce for barbecued meat or poultry.

Create Dessert Excitement

Wine gelatin desserts have long been famous for the culinary pleasures they contribute to a meal, especially the dessert course. By the simple press of your electric blender switch and relaxed minutes of preparation, it's so easy to give this dessert a "new face" of elegance and excitement.

Uncork your favorite California red port wine to enhance the delicious combination of two classic, modern day ingredients -- cherry flavor gelatin and frozen sweet cherries in quick thaw pouch. Whisk the wine, gelatin, and cherry syrup together into this Cherry Wine Dazzler. Pour into your prettiest dessert glasses, and watch the self-layering take place. A light airy fluff nests atop a sparkling clear base right before your eyes.

Fifteen minutes is all the chilling time that's needed with this quick blender method. Add eye-catching appeal with a garnish of prepared whipped topping and those juicy sweet cherries -- their place a thin lacy wafer at the side. What a perfect climax to a festive dinner!

CHERRY WINE DAZZLER
1 package (10 oz.) Birds Eye Quick Thaw Sweet Cherries
1 package (3 oz.) Jell-O Cherry Gelatin
1 1/2 cups crushed ice
3 tablespoons California port wine
Prepared whipped topping (optional)
Thaw cherries as directed on package. Drain, reserving syrup. Add water to syrup to make 3/4 cup; bring to a boil. Combine gelatin and boiling liquid in container of an electric blender. Cover and blend at low speed for 30 seconds, or until gelatin is dissolved. Add crushed ice and wine; blend at high speed just until ice is melted--about 30 seconds. Pour into individual dessert glasses. Chill at least 15 minutes. (Dessert is self-layering and will have appearance of whipped gelatin with a clear layer at the bottom when chilled.) Top each serving with a dollop of prepared whipped topping, and garnish with the cherries; serve immediately. Makes 4 cups or 6 to 8 servings.

CHERRY WINE DAZZLER

Remodeling the traditional wine gelatin dessert favorite is as easy as whisking up this self-layering Cherry Wine Dazzler. Use your electric blender to speed preparation; uncork a bottle of California port wine to enhance the flavor; open a box of fruit flavored gelatin and of frozen sweet cherries in quick thaw pouch to add the delight of true modern day convenience.

New Potatoes Seasoned
For Trim, Slim Eating

It's that time of year again, when vegetable markets blossom with freshly grown produce. To make the most of the season, a variety of these vegetables should be purchased, taking advantage of their low prices and fresh quality.

Fresh new potatoes are long-awaited favorites of the season. Distinguished by thin skins and garden-fresh flavor, they appear on the market from early spring through summer.

As a special note for dieters, new potatoes are designed for low-calorie preparation. Because of their moist flavor and tender skin, the potatoes can be steamed in their skins, eliminating extra calories and keeping valuable nutrients from "washing away".

With only 76 calories in 3 1/2 ounces of potatoes cooked in their skins, they can be served in a variety of trim ways. The basic recipe treats freshly cooked potatoes with a coating of diet dressing. They pick up a tangy flavor with only a calorie more. Sprinkling with chopped parsley, chives or herbs adds a touch of interest.

As a variation, the potatoes may be sprinkled with lemon juice and a favorite seasoning. Suggested ideas include salad seasoning or flavored salts. To satisfy non-dieting appetites, a recipe for new potatoes in butter is included.

Although new potatoes are featured here, any type may be used. Just boil whole, and peel before serving. To keep in the spirit of the season, fresh peas make an ideal accompaniment. Even the dieter can enjoy them, when served with potatoes seasoned the slim way.

NEW POTATOES FOR DIETERS
2 pounds new potatoes
1/4 cup bottled diet dressing, French or Italian
2 tablespoons frozen chives or snipped parsley

Salt and pepper, to taste
Wash potatoes. Steam with skins on, in colander over boiling water, until tender. Takes about 25 to 30 minutes, depending on size of potatoes. Remove to dish, cutting larger potatoes in half. Pour dressing over potatoes, turning to coat evenly. Sprinkle with chives or parsley and season to taste with salt and pepper. Makes 6 servings. Serve with freshly cooked new peas.

FRAGRANT HERBS:
Use dried herbs in place of chives or parsley. Suggestions: basil, thyme, dill weed, tarragon or oregano.

TANGY LEMON:
Use lemon juice and seasonings in place of dressing. Suggestions: salad seasoning, onion or garlic salt, season salt and pepper, caraway seed.

BUTTERED NEW POTATOES:
2 lbs. new potatoes
1/4 cup butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons frozen chives or snipped parsley
1/4 teaspoon salt
Steam potatoes as directed above. Toss with remaining ingredients. Makes 6 servings.

Country come to the ranch to bag a trophy at $300 to $400 a head. Schreiner's main goal in raising the foreign animals, however, is propagation of the species. "We're trying to breed them and raise enough to supply zoos," says Charles Land, game biologist at the ranch. "The time is coming when it will be very difficult to bring new animals into the country."

Like Everything Else --- Cost of Zoo Animals Goes Up

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Like everything else, the cost of zoo animals has gone up. A zebra that sold for $1,000 to $1,200 in this country 10 or 15 years ago now goes for $1,700 to $2,750.

A decade ago, a certain species of antelope cost animal exhibitor and dealer Roland Lindemann $800 a head. When he recently bought the same kind of antelope for his Catskill Game Farm at Catskill, N.Y., he paid $3,500 apiece.

Lindemann, here for a meeting of the American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquariums, says lions are selling at bargain basement prices.

"You can buy an old, beat-up, worn-out lion for $25," he says. "They're very prolific, and practically every zoo has all it needs."

Higher on the price scale are the giant eland antelope for $25,000 a pair, or a male and female snow leopard for $6,000. "The most desired animal at zoos is probably the giant panda," says Lindemann. "It's a Chinese bamboo bear—a vegetarian, eats bamboo. There are only two zoos that have them that I know of—one in London and one in Moscow."

"I'd guess they'd probably sell for around $50,000 apiece, but some philanthropist would probably offer an inflated price, like $100,000 or so, just so the zoo in his town could have one." Because of restricted trade with Red China, there aren't any on the market right now.

Faced with the skyrocketing cost of shipping animals here from Africa and Asia, zoos may soon be able to buy homegrown zebras and other hoofed animals of the horse family.

Several ranches in the United States are now breeding and raising animals of African or Asian origin. On his 115-square-mile Y. O. Ranch in the rolling hills of Central Texas, Charles Schreiner has zebras, the fringe-eared oryx of East Africa; the huge, 2,000-pound eland of Central and South Africa; the Siberian ibex; and the Nilgai, an Asian antelope.

His supply of some exotic animals, such as wild Corsican rams or the blackbuck antelope of India, is plentiful enough to allow them to be hunted. Sportsmen from all over the country come to the ranch to bag a trophy at $300 to $400 a head.

Schreiner's main goal in raising the foreign animals, however, is propagation of the species.
